REPORT RUSSIA SCARES CZECHS OUT OF PARLEY

Government Sources Declare Country Will Withdraw on Moscow Orders.

By The Associated Press

PRAGUE, July 10—Sources close to the government said today Czechoslovakia, by Moscow request, would withdraw her acceptance of the invitation to the European economic conference at Paris scheduled to open Saturday.

The cabinet went into hasty special session after hearing by telephone from Moscow, the informants said. It was believed the cabinet heard directly from its Communist premier, Klement Gottwald, who flew to Moscow yesterday for talks with Prime Minister Stalin.

If Czechoslovakia should withdraw from the Paris conference on the Marshall aid-to-Europe proposal, it would virtually complete the boycott of the talks by Russia and the states within her orbit in eastern Europe.

2 To Be Heard

Only Finland and Albania still were to be heard from, and there seemed little likelihood that either would accept.

Hungary today joined Bulgaria, Romania, Yugoslavia and Poland in rejecting the British-French invitation to the talks.

At least 16 nations will definitely attend.

In the invitations, distributed last Thursday, Britain and France proposed that participants in the conference set up committees to survey Europe's resources and needs in a move to get United States' aid in continental reconstruction.

Proposed June 5

Secretary of State George C. Marshall offered such aid, provided Europe took the initiative in recovery planning, in a Harvard university speech June 5.

Countries which had signified their intention of taking part, in addition to Czechslovakia, are Austria, Britain, France, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Iceland, Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg, Switzerland, Eire, Portugal, Italy, Greece and Turkey. Franco Spain was not invited.

BEATEN FOE SEES TRUMAN SCANDAL

By The Associated Press

TULSA, Okla., July 10—Former Representative Roger C. Slaughter of Missouri diclared today "a scandal threatens the great office of the President of the United States, and will inevitably become an issue in the campaigns which will be waged next year."

In an address prepared for delivery before the public affairs forum of the Tulsa Chamber of Commerce, Slaughter, who was defeated for renomination in the 1946 Missouri Democratic primary by a Truman-endorsed candidate, expressed his conviction that "the President is personally an honest and honorable man."

Then he added, "however, like Grant and Harding, he has been misled by false friends, and has likewise been the victim of his own impetuosity."

Assailes Political Machine

Slaughter assailed the Pendergast Democratic organization of Kansas City, asserting it "finally fell of its own weight" but "like the Phoenix, it managed to rise from the ashes—helped, in part, by a friendly national administration."

"Its present importance," he asserted, "lies not in its current strength, which is considerably diminished, but rather in the effrontery with which it seeks to trade upon the prestige of the Presidency of the United States. It brags of the fact that the President of the United States is a dues-paying member, and proudly frames his checks for annual dues. It continues, on its letterhead, to list the President of the United States as the vice president of that organization."

Of President Truman's intervention in the 1946 Missouri Democratic primary, Slaughter said:

"Earlier x x x I mentioned the impetuosity of the President, which has sometimes gotten him

PRINCESS ELIZABETH

PHILIP MOUNTBATTEN

Elizabeth, Philip Make First Appearance After Betrothal

(More about Lt. Mountbatten on Page 23)

By The Associated Press

LONDON, July 10—Princess Elizabeth proudly displayed her tall and handsome fiance, Lt. Philip Mountbatten, to 6,000 British society leaders in a damp garden party at Buckingham palace today.

It was the first public appearance of the future queen and consort since the midnight announcement of their engagement.

King George VI, Queen Elizabeth and the younger sister, Princess Margaret Rose, beamed in the background in apparent delight while Elizabeth and Philip attracted practically the entire interest. Guests swished through wet grass to see the young couple.

Bowing to garden party etiquette, Elizabeth wore gloves which hid the engagement ring of three diamonds set in platinum which the former Greek prince placed on her third finger.

Earlier, crowds broke through police barriers at Westminster Abbey to cheer the 21-year-old princess. Best wishes came from all over the world.

"We are very, very happy," she told a friend as she leafed through pile after pile of congratulatory messages in Buckingham palace, where her handsome blond fiance also was in residence.

Outside the vast gray palace, whose gloomy exterior gave no evidence of the happiness within, a crowd that swelled to more than 2,000 stood in steady rain for a glimpse of "Princess Lilybet" when she left with her family for a Westminster Abbey ceremony.

Hurrahs and shouts of "good luck" rang out as the royal family left in a limousine for the abbey. The slender, blue-eyed Elizabeth, sitting beside demure Princess Margaret, smiled happily and waved acknowledgment. A faint blush tinged her cheeks.

Unveils Memorial

Renewed cheers arose from another raincoated crowd in front of the 900-year-old abbey, where King George unveiled a new memorial chapel to the flyers who saved the country from invasion in the Battle of Britain.

Lt. Mountbatten, on 14-day leave from his naval establishment in Wiltshire, did not accompany the royal family.

The announcement of the royal engagement and speculation over plans for the wedding—the date for which is to be set within a few days—temporarily stole the spotlight from international politics and domestic economic problems.

The general belief was that the 21-year-old heiress apparent to the throne would wed her childhood sweetheart this autumn—probably in October—at Westminster Abbey, but in the absence of an official announcement the date still was anyone's guess.

Austere Affair Seen

The impression appeared to be growing, however, that the ceremony—in deference to the grave economic ills confronting the nation—would be a comparatively austere affair.

Messages of congratulation from all parts of the world continued, meanwhile, to pour into Buckingham palace, where the royal engagement was officially announced in a court circular released for publication at 12:30 a. m. (5:30 p. m. EST Wednesday).

Among the first to send felicitations were the prime ministers of Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa.

The British press—with the sole exception of the Communist Daily Worker—enthusiastically acclaimed the princess' betrothal to the handsome, blond former prince

SECURITY OF BOMB CHECKED

Congress Stirs as FBI Plans To Prosecute GI's Who "Souvenired" Secrets.

By The United Press

WASHINGTON, July 10—Congress rushed plans to double check security of America's atom bomb secrets today in wake of a startling disclosure that vital data had been removed from the Los Alamos, N. M., atomic plant by two soldiers in March of 1946.

The justice department also swung into action. It announced its intention to prosecute the two sergeants who reportedly took the documents as "souvenirs" and kept them for a full year before they were recovered by the FBI.

The justice department declined to identify the two soldiers or to cite the statute under which it would prosecute. It said the question of legal proceedings still was under study.

Chairman Bourke B. Hickenlooper (R), of Iowa, of the joint congressional atomic committee said he believed the incident had not exposed vital secrets to "unauthorized persons." But he said

Patrol Corporal Busy on Day Off, Nabs Sheep Thief

Although Monday was the regular day off for Cpl. R. P. Shaw of the state patrol here, he found some business to attend to while he was visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Shaw just southeast of Ashley.

Cpl. Shaw stated he saw a young man prowling through the field and stalking one of the registered sheep on the Shaw farm. He waited until the stalker caught one of the sheep then made the arrest at 5 p. m. The man, Ward Emerson Powell, 22, of Ashley was charged with two offenses, the first for having improper license plates on the car he was driving, the second for entering land without the owner's consent with the intent of removing valuable property. Powell pleaded guilty on both charges when he was arraigned before John J. Schweitzer, justice of the peace of Delaware, and was fined $50 and costs for the first charge and sentenced to 30 days in jail on the second count.

Prospect Man Treated For Cuts After Fight

Eugene Cameron, 23, of Prospect, suffered three gashes in a free-for-all fight near Newmans early this morning, Sheriff LeRoy Retterer reported. Cameron, whose wounds are not considered serious, was treated at the office of a Prospect physician. He was with three Prospect men and three Marion residents who had met at a cafe in Prospect, the sheriff said.

After an argument had developed and apparently been settled the six men drove to Newmans where they stopped. As they got out of the car, the argument was resumed and resulted in the fight. No charges have been filed against any of the men.

FATHER, SON DIE IN CANADIAN AUTO WRECK

John Merkle, Former Marion Man, and Boy, 11, Killed While on Vacation.

John Merkle, 37, of Sandusky, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Merkle of 472 North Main street, and his son, John, 11, were killed in an automobile accident near North Bay, Ontario, Canada, about noon yesterday. Mr. Merkle, his wife and son, were on vacation at Land lake near the Ontario town.

According to word received here, the accident occurred when D. E. Bailey of Madison, O., brother-in-law of Mr. Merkle who was driving, attempted to pass a truck and the car struck a chuck-hole and overturned.

Mr. Merkle and his son, riding in the back seat, were pinned beneath the wreckage. Mrs. Merkle, Mr. and Mrs. Bailey and their son suffered cuts and bruises, but are not believed to have been injured seriously. Mrs. Merkle and Mrs. Bailey are sisters.

Started Last Week

The Merkles left Sandusky last Thursday, and stayed overnight with the Baileys, driving to Canada the next day.

They made the trip in two automobiles. Mr. Bailey was driving his automobile at the time of the accident. It is believed the party may have been driving to a small grocery nearby to purchase supplies, according to Mr. Merkle's father.

Mrs. Merkle was expected to arrive with the bodies in Sandusky this afternoon. Funeral arrangements are pending her arrival. It is probable burial will be made in Marion.

Native of Marion

Mr. Merkle was a foreman at the Philco Radio Corp. plant in Sandusky. He was born in Marion May 23, 1909, a son of Albert and Nellie Griffin Merkle. The father is a native of Marion, and the mother was born in Urbana. A graduate of St. Mary Parochial High school here, he attended Denison university at Granville. July 2, 1934, he was married to Mary Bloser of Columbus in a ceremony at St. Mary Catholic church here. Their son, John, was born in Columbus.

Mr. Merkle left Marion 18 years ago, living in Columbus until six years ago when he went to Sandusky. He was a member of Sts. Peter and Paul Catholic church in Sandusky.

Surviving with his widow and parents are a brother and sister, George Merkle of Springfield and Mrs. Robert H. Whittaker of Bowling Green. Mrs. Whittaker's husband was formerly football coach of Sandusky High school, and is now coach at Bowling Green State university.

Russians Balk at Move To Admit Austria to UN

By The Associated Press

LAKE SUCCCESS, July 10—Russia raised firm objections in the security council today against consideration of Austria's application for United Nations membership.

However, the application was sent without vote to the council's membership committee, which also holds bids from Italy and Hungary.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko pointed out the peace treaty with Austria has not been signed, and said he could not discuss Austria's qualifications at this time.

Winchell Says "Flying Saucers," Despite Denials, Are Navy Experimental Craft

By International News Service

NEW YORK, July 10—Walter Winchell, New York Daily Mirror columnist, wrote today that despite vigorous denials by army and navy officials the flying saucers actually are flying wings being developed by the U. S. navy.

Winchell said that they can land at a very low speed—making them good for carriers, and that there "is said to be an entire squadron at Muroc field, Calif."

He added:

"The above is not rumor—it is a fact, according to 'insiders' who were promised that the source would be protected."

Winchell said the war department has denied that it knows about the flying disks. He added:

"Many people assume that the army and navy department are one and that all of their aerial and scientific developments are joint projects. This is not so. The navy, I am certain, has its own laboratories for aerial experimentation.

"It is also alleged that in 1943 an American firm (in Chicago) pioneering in jet propulsion planes sent an experimental test ship through the so-called supersonic wall. In other words, in this test flight in 1943 the jet plane traveled with a pilot aboard faster than sound. Thus it supposedly went through the supersonic wall where it was traveling in speeds ahead of itself.

"While I have not confirmed information on the above, I understand these facts are in existence and that the plane was not heard of again for more than three weeks when it was found crashed somewhere in lower Montana. The pilot was dead. He was 25, but his teeth and body were those of a man of 35. He got younger, not older."

Jones O.K.'d For U. S. Post

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 10—Confirmation of Rep. Robert F. Jones (R-Ohio) as a member of the federal communications commission today was recommended unanimously by the senate commerce committee.

The action, which took place in a closed session of the committee, followed the unanimous recommendation of a subcommittee headed by Senator Brewster (R-Me).

The favorable recommendation was made despite contentions by Drew Pearson, the columnist, that Jones had been a member of the Black Legion and once was introduced by his father as the youngest member of the Ku Klux Klan.

Jones denied the accusations.

The Lima, O., congressman was nominated to succeed Ray C. Wakefield, whose term has expired.

Low-Priced Auto Plans Revealed by Engineer

DETROIT, July 10 — John T. Tjaarda, Detroit industrial design engineer, today revealed plans for a new, light-weight, low priced automobile.

Tjaarda said the car, a six-cylinder model incorporating "controlled combustion," would be built in a defense plant to be acquired in Grand Prairie, Tex.

The new firm, to be known as North American Motors, Inc., will begin construction of the car in the first quarter of 1948, he said.

The senate already has passed the measure requested by President Truman and congressional leaders forecast his prompt approval.

O.P.S. BUILDING NEW MARION SUBSTATION

To Be Named in Memory of Late C. C. Roberts.

Construction of a new substation here as part of the facilities of the Ohio Public Service Co. were announced here today.

Harold Grigsby, O.P.S. general manager, said the station will be known as the "C. C. Roberts Substation" in memory of the late Mr. Roberts who at the time of his death was president of the Marion Reserve Power Co., now a division of the O.P.S.

Work on the project now is under way at Garden City pike and Fountain street. It is expected to be completed this year.

Part of the equipment will be a frequency modulation radio station to serve as a means of communication between the central office and men working on the lines when trouble occurs. A 175-foot steel tower will be erected to handle messages on a two-way basis.

The substation will be the Marion terminus of a new 45 mile 132,000 volt transmission line to connect Marion Scioto plant and distribution system with the O.P.S. transmission system, to make available to Marion users some 60,000 kilowatts in addition to 28,500 now generated in the local plant. Mr. Grigsby further stated that the O.P.S. company in building this project is providing Marion with a power back-log to meet most any emergency, future business, or industrial expansion. The new structure will be 35 feet high and consists of five bays covering an area of approximately 100 feet by 160 feet on a lot 400 feet by 400 feet. Building structure will be 40 feet by 65 feet of brick and concrete.

Frightened Ohioans Say Panther in Neighborhood

By The Associated Press

WARREN, O., July 10—Searching parties resumed the hunt today in nearby Bloomfield township for an animal described by frightened citizens as a black panther.

State highway patrolman, summoned after the animal's nocturnal cries aroused residents, combed wooded areas in the sector Tuesday and yesterday, but found only several unidentified tracks.

Orville West, who fired at the animal when it appeared in his backyard, insisted to police it was a panther.

"I've seen them before," West said.

Several other residents expressed belief the intruder was a wildcat.

Crop Condition Here Surveyed

Situation in County Appears Better Than in Some Areas of State.

A check today with Arthur Smith, Marion county extension agent, regarding the effect of the recent rains on the crops in the Marion area revealed that the local conditions are a little better than those reported in an Associated Press dispatch today on the farm situation in the northeastern section of Ohio.

Mr. Smith said that although the latest rains weren't particularly heavy, most of the hay crop in the county is flattened. He stated that some of the sections actually needed a little rain recently but instead of just a little they had too much.

Rain Delayed Planting

Due to the continued rains and cold weather during the regular planting season this spring, many Marion county farmers were unable to get their crops planted. Those who were able to get the seed in have been seriously handicapped in the work necessary following planting.

According to reports from county farmers, corn is growing but is about a month behind normal. Some Marion county wheat crops are reported to be exceptionally good, especially on higher ground where drainage is better, but others are practically non-existent.

It it estimated the county corn yield will be about half of normal amount this year, wheat will be only a little short of normal and oats will bring about 50 per cent of the average yield.

Some of the wheat is reported to be starting to ripen.

Situation Elsewhere

According to an Associated Press report from Wooster, O., the crops in northeastern Ohio are expected to be the poorest in at

Wheat Crop Seen As Record, Corn Below Average

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 10—The agriculture department today forecast this year's corn crop at 2,612,809,000 bushels and all wheat at 1,435,551,000 bushels.

The corn estimate compares with last year's record of 3,287,927,000 bushels and with a 10-year (1936-45) average of 2,639,102,000.

The prospective reduction in corn reflects damage caused by spring floods and by delays in getting the crop planted due to wet weather.

Officials hope for a crop of at least 2,850,000,000 bushels. They say a crop of less than this amount would force curtailment in livestock production and prolonged high prices for meats. The government's goal is 3,000,000,000 bushels.

The wheat estimate is the largest of record, comparable with 1,155,715,000 harvested last year, which was the previous top crop, And with the 10-year average of 890,306,000. This year's crop was forecast at 1,440,883,000 a month ago.

The winter wheat crop was estimated at 1,092,122,000 bushels compared with 1,083,071,000 forecast at 885,011,000 bushels, com-

WHITE HOUSE EYES PRICES

Watches for Upswing in Wake of Lewis' Record-Breaking Coal Contract.

Special to The Star

WASHINGTON, July 10—President Truman received from his economic advisory council today a report appraising the possible effects of John L. Lewis' new coal contract on the cost-of-living.

Dr. Edwin G. Nourse, chairman of the three-man council, said the report will be discussed with the entire cabinet at the White House tomorrow. He said it likely will be made public later.

Nourse declined to indicate the council's findings which were embraced in a mid-year report.

"Does it take into consideration the new coal wage contract and its possible influence on the wage-price spiral?" Nourse was asked.

"Read the Papers"

"Oh yes, we are awake," Nourse replied. "We read the papers."

The question referred to the new contract Lewis has signed with bituminous coal operators in behalf of his 400,000 United Mine Workers. It gives them their highest wages in history.

Mr. Truman himself at his news conference declined comment on the agreement, saying it was a matter between the mine owners and workers.

The administration, however, showed no signs of reopening the mine wage controversy by proceeding against the operators under the Taft-Hartley labor act as Rep. Hartley (R-NJ) declared it could do.

Calls Contract Illegal

To co-author of the union curb measure insisted in a house speech late yesterday that the contract provision under which the mine owners agree not only to check off union dues but initiation fees and assessments as well as a "clear violation of the act."

He contended that only union dues may be withheld from workers' paychecks and that in going beyond that field the operators "agreed to pay money for an illegal reason."

Lashing out, too, at the provision that the miners need work only when "able and willing" to do so, Hartley said the law meant for labor unions "to become responsible organizations."

"In my opinion," the lawmaker declared, "this agreement clearly reflects collusion between the mine operators and the UMW with the intention of violating the law."

Face Jail Terms

Hartley said the operators who signed could be charged under the act and, if convicted, would face a $10,000 fine and a one year in prison.

He added that no action could be taken against Lewis, because the law forbids payment of money, except for withheld dues, to "representatives of employes" but says nothing about the employes' representatives' accepting it.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) had no comment on Hartley's contention. The Ohio senator had said shortly after the contract agreement was announced that the new law he helped write contemplated employers and employes settling their own disputes.

BULLETIN

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 10—President Truman's announcement today that he will veto the new $4,000,000,000 income tax-cutting bill spurred its congressional supporters for an intensified drive to override his forthcoming rejection.

Republican leaders, joined by some Democrats, expressed defiance in their reaction to Mr. Truman's statement at his news conference that he can see no reason to change his attitude toward the measure since it is the same bill, except for effective date, that he vetoed before.

The outburst came as the senate began consideration of the legislation which already has been passed overwhelmingly in the house.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 10—President Truman said today that he will veto the new Republican $4,000,000,000 income tax reduction bill.

Mr. Truman made this statement to a news conference shortly before the senate began consideration of the legislation already passed overwhelmingly by the house.

The President said he didn't see why there should be any change in his attitude since it is the same tax measure as the one he vetoed before, except for a different effective date.

Tells Barkley First

Mr. Truman first disclosed his decision on the tax bill which would become effective Jan. 1, to Senator Barkley, the senate Democratic leader.

Barkley, telling reporters then of the decision, was asked what his attitude will be when the bill comes up on the senate floor.

"I'm opposed to it," he said, adding he would fight in on the floor.

Then he said Mr. Truman is opposed to it and will "veto it."

Asked if a secound veto could be sustained in the senate, Barkley said "I hope so."

Approved by Committee

The measure was approved 10-3 by the senate finance committee yesterday with Barkley, and Senators Lucas (D-Ill) and Connally (D-Tex) opposing it.

Barkley spent half an hour with Mr. Truman before making his announcement.

The bill comes up on the senate floor for consideration today.

The chamber cleared the way for action by passing the army-navy unification bill late yesterday. A few hours earlier the senate finance committee had approved the tax cutting measure by a 10 to 3 vote.

Republican backers of the bill, which would take effect next Jan. 1, were hopeful of driving it through by Saturday. If the bill can be delivered to the White House by Monday, the President could take his full 10 days to sign or veto it without interfering with congress' plan to adjourn July 26.

CIO Sees Slump Unless Tax Approach Changed

WASHINGTON, July 10—The CIO declared today there will be a crash like that of 1929 if congress gives "first priority to reducing taxes upon high income brackets and corporations."

Stanley Ruttenberg, CIO economist, said that instead of an overall tax cut there should be "vital revisions in the tax structure" to "promote and to sustain our national economy at maximum employment, production and purchasing power."

Ruttenberg's statement was prepared for the house ways and means committee, which is studying general revisions of tax statutes to be written next year. He outlined CIO's tax program as follows:

1. An increase in personal exemptions, rather than reduction of tax rates on individual incomes.

2. Elimination of excise taxes, except those of a regulatory nature.

3. Closing of "such tax loopholes" as mandatory joint returns, capital gains and tax exempt securities.

4. "More effective taxation of estates and gifts."

5. Taxation of undistributed profits and excess profits of corporations [illegible]

Congress Finishes Record Year For Tinkering with Presidency

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON, July 10—Congress is finishing its busiest year of doing something about the presidency.

It's acted to limit any president to two terms. It's acting now to make the speaker of the house president if there's no president or vice president.

James Marlow

That's more than any other congress has done in one year on this subject.

Take them separately:

▶ Limiting a president to two terms.

In mid-March the Republican-controlled congress, house and senate, okayed a proposed amendment to the Constitutoin setting a two-term limit.

Before the Constitution is amended, at last 36 state legislatures also must approve.

19 States To Go

Since mid-March, 17 have done so. That leaves 19 to go. They have seven years in which to do it. The amendment would work like this:

No man could be elected president more than twice.

If a vice president succeeded to the presidency, but didn't serve more than two years of his predecessor's unexpired term, he could be elected to two full terms.

But a special exception is made for President Truman. By the time of the 1948 elections he will have served more than three years of President Roosevelt's unexpired term.

Because of the exception in his case, he'll be able to run in 1948 and, if successful, to run again in 1952.

There's no limit in the Constitution, as it now stands, to the number of times a man can be president. Except for Mr. Roosevelt, four times elected, no president has been elected more than twice.

▶ Letting the speaker become president.

In 1886 congress passed a law which said that, if the president dies and there's no vice president, the line of succession to the presidency will be in this order:

Secretary of state, secretary of the treasury, secretary of war, attorney general, postmaster general, secretary of the navy, secretary of the interior.

All of those men are members of the president's cabinet because they have been appointed by him, not because they were elected by the people.

But none of them has ever succeeded to the presidency because it has never been necessary.

Often No Vice President

But 15 times in our history we've had no vice president. Seven died in office, seven, including Mr. Truman, succeeded to the presidency when the president died, and one resigned.

When Vice President Truman became president, leaving the vice presidency vacant, an old question about the law of 1886 arose again: Should a cabinet member, a non-elected person, be allowed to become president?

Mr. Truman thought not. Shortly after becoming president he suggested this to congress:

Pass a law by which the speaker of the house of representatives can become president if the president dies and there's no vice president. The speaker is a congressman elected by the people of his district. He's chosen speaker by the majority party in the house.

Martin Current Speaker

(The Republicans, now in a majority in the house, elected Rep. Joseph Martin, 63-year-old Massachusetts Republican, as speaker).

The house voted for Mr. Truman's idea in 1946 but the senate let it die. Now the senate has voted for it this year and the house is expected to vote for it today or tomorrow.

Then if Mr. Truman were to die Martin would be president. If anything were to happen to Martin before a new speaker was chosen by the house, the next in line would be the acting president of the senate.

(The president of the senate is always the vice president of the United States. When Vice President Truman became U. S. President, an acting president of the senate had to be chosen.

(The majority party in such a case — this time it's the Republicans — do the choosing. The acting senate president now is Senator Arthur Vandenberg, Michigan Republican.)

If the speaker of the house and the acting president of the senate die or for any reason can't take over the presidency, then the law of 1886 comes into effect and next in line is the secretary of state.

PEACE, WAR CALLED UP TO INTELLIGENCE

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, July 10—The issue of peace or war will be settled largely by the intelligence of American people, William G. Carr told National Education association delegates last night as he urged them to "mobilize the teachers and people of America to wage the peace."

"The challenge for leadership for the waging of peace is before us," he declared, "and the issue of peace or war in our time will not be settled by some vast, impersonal force beyond the power of man to control."

Carr, who is associate secretary of the NEA, called on the delegates to accomplish the mobilization "with shrewd and farsighted planning; the unstinted outpouring of money, time and energy; the superb cooperative spirit that covers up and ignores all petty differences of race creed and economic circumstances, leaving only the common humanity showing."

Lines of action proposed by Carr included:

Every teacher should avoid exhibition of national or racial prejudice.

The domestic and international aspects of questions should be taught together wherever possible.

Children and youth should be acquainted with the machinery now established for the maintenance of peace among nations.

The NEA's committee on tenure and academic freedom announced, after a conference yesterday, that it would ask the parent group for power to investigate all dismissals of school teachers.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

"Best Male Line"

The Times noted with satisfaction that Mountbatten, a distant cousin of King George VI and a nephew of Lord Mountbatten, viceroy of India, "comes of the male line of one of the oldest dynasties of Europe."

"The pleasure of the people will be the greater," the Times added, "because it is apparent that there can be no motive but the impulse of their own hearts to bring this young couple together.

Other London papers expressed similar views, but the Daily Worker sounded a sour note by calling Mountbatten a "German princeling"—a reference to the fact that his mother, Princess Alice, was the eldest daughter of Prince Louis of Battenburg, a German who acquired British citizenship in 1868 and was First Sea Lord at the outbreak of World War I.

"We must express our dismay," said the Worker, "that an individual with his family background has found himself in a position of great authority over the British people."

AFL AND CIO BACK HEALTH INSURANCE

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 10—The AFL and CIO threw their support today to a compulsory national health insurance program proposed by Senator Murray (D-Mont) and five Democratic colleagues.

Both denounced a rival bill by Senator Taft (R-Ohio) and two other Republicans as "charity."

Nelson H. Cruikshank, AFL director of social insurance activities, said workers should not have to "worry about the financial cost of keeping healthy."

He declared a national health insurance system should provide coverage not only of hospital bills and medical care while ill but "preventive, diagnostic and curative care." The Murray bill, he said, is the best answer.

James B. Carey, CIO secretary-treasurer, said the Murray bill represents a positive and constructive program" under which the health of the people can best be safeguarded by themselves."

Carey called the Taft bill "just another charity relief proposal intended to allay the grievous complaints of the very poor."

Czechoslovakia's Presence At Aid Conference Leaves Puzzle

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Foreign Affairs Analyst

Whatever may be the real significance of Czechoslovakia's decision to attend the forthcoming Paris conference on the Marshall rehabilitation plan (and the import certainly isn't clear at this writing) it's good to see this liberty-loving little republic among the acceptors of the invitation.

DewittMackenzie

There is no country in whose heart the fire of freedom burns more fiercely, and it would have been a matter of keen regret to many, including your correspondent, if her membership in the Russian bloc had compelled her to decline participation in the parley. It has been my privilege to know Czechoslovakia well from her birth, and to have had the acquaintance of the late Dr. Thomas Masaryk, father of his country and her first president. And so, knowing her fighting spirit as well, it would have been a shock if she had stayed away from Paris on orders from Moscow after she already had expressed desire to be present.

Peace Question

Naturally Prague's acceptance of the Anglo-French invitation to join in the economic discussion has given rise to widespread speculation, in view of Russia's condemnation of the Marshall program and refusal to participate in it. Why should Moscow seemingly acquiesce now? The answer would appear to be one of two things:

1. Czechoslovakia refused to take orders from anybody, or (2) Moscow decided that it would be a good thing for the Slavic bloc to be represented by Prague at Paris.

Strangely enough, at the same time, a Czechoslovakia source in Prague was quoted as suggesting that Russia herself might try to back into the conference. Simultaneously in London British Foreign Minister Bevin indicated that the door was still open to Russia. He expressed joy that Czechoslovakia would attend the conference and declared that the Marshall program was a step toward "a great unity of peoples throughout the world."

Thus the eyes of the world are centered on the Czechoslovakian development. Probably we shall not know its meaning until the Paris conference has demonstrated it by words and deeds.

Other Interesting Facts

However, there are some additional interesting facts relating to the situation. We know that not only Czechoslovakia but all the other countries in Russia's zone of influence, are anxious to become beneficiaries of Uncle Sam's bounty. At least some of them have been hoping to secure loans and other material assistance without reciprocity.

Russia's announced objection to the Marshall program has been the claim that it would place European countries under an obligation to the United States and so infringe upon their sovereignty. But there has been no indication that Moscow would object to the plan if it were all give and no take on America's part.

Naturally the western allies would like nothing better than whole-hearted, all-out cooperation by Russia. Observers note, however, that there is another kind of "cooperation" which can result in the scuttling of a program — the sort of "cooperation" shown in the constant emloyment of the veto for the purpose of obstruction. The western allies don't want that kind of "cooperation."

Tips on Handling Food During Hot Weather Given

To safeguard the family health during warm summer days, Miss Mary Faye McMillen, county home demonstration agent suggests some precautions in handling food in the home.

Plan the menus to omit cream filled pastries, custards, or creamed dishes which will not be consumed as soon as prepared. Such foods are easily contaminated by organisms which produce toxins which cause food poisoning.

Refrigerate and make use of all left-over foods as soon as possible, especially chicken or pork and dishes which contain milk and eggs. Such food should be served as soon as cooked or should be chilled immediately and kept cold to serve later. Most cooked foods should be refrigerated as soon as the vapor stops leaving the surface of the food.

Keep dairy products clean and cold. Warm milk or milk kept at room temperature is a perfect medium for the growth of bacteria so it is most important that milk or foods containing milk be kept cold and free from exposure to contamination. Pasteurized milk should be used whenever possible in preference to raw milk.

Wash all fresh fruits and vegetables thoroughly before using. Careless handling of the products may also result in contamination of the food.

Wash dishes with plenty of soap and hot water, sterilize, and drain. Store them in a closed cupboard to protect them from dust.

First Counterattack in Greece

THE question in Greece was which side would move first, the government, or the Kremlin puppets. It has turned out to be the government, with a roundup of potential revolutionists. Presumably, their striking power now has been destroyed temporarily. Barring the possibility—perhaps the probability—of an overt move by communist-guided forces across the border from Yugoslavia, civil war may be averted.

The worst thing that could happen would be a clash between these Russian-inspired forces and Greek troops assisted by Great Britain and the United States. An incident of that kind could precipitate world war III. Greece could become another Spain—a preliminary battleground—with a new alignment of contestants for power. The United States has served notice it will not let Greece succumb to Russian influence by default. The Soviet Union is doing everything in its power to serve notice it will not be barred from Greece without an open clash. The first counterattack has been launched by the government—a roundup of Kremlin-bossed revolutionaries. The next move is Russia's.

A Prince Consort

BRITAIN'S royal family is to have a prince consort for Princess Elizabeth, heiress presumptive who one day will be queen regnant if her parents, the king and queen, do not have a son. The wedding has been set for autumn.

Britain has had four previous consorts—Philip of Spain, husband of Mary I; William III who shared the throne with Mary II; George of Denmark, husband of Queen Anne, and Albert of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, husband of Victoria. The status of each was different, William III being the only one who had full royal prerogatives. Historically, far and away the most important was Albert, a calm, intelligent man who was an invaluable helpmeet to Victoria in her early years as queen and whose beneficial influence on English life wasn't fully appreciated during the lifetime.

What Prince Philip's status will be isn't known yet. Royalty's influence having declined, it isn't likely his influence will approach that of Albert, should his mate become queen regnant.

The Way Russia Wants It

INTERVIEWED in London, Arthur Hays Sulzberger, New York Times publisher, says we're wasting our time trying to lift Russia's iron curtain. He says, "I would not exchange ideas beyond that curtain, I would not exchange goods, I would not do business in any way, shape, form or manner."

This is the direction in which our Russian policy is developing. It can be no other way because Russia wants it no other way.

There is no reason why our oil should go to Russia, even if it amounts to less annually than a day's production of inferior crude. There is no reason why we should continue to buy gold from Russia. We have more gold than we know what to do with. We can do our best to aid European reconstruction without Russia and her satellites. By the aura of hostility and suspicion she casts over all her dealings with the western world, Russia eventually can have her iron curtain hermetically sealed—with our assistance.

Place Your Bets

THE effect of the automatic adjournment written into the congressional reorganization act last year is to make congress do what it usually wants to do anyway—go home before dog days start. The act provides adjournment by the end of July, unless war or other national emergency exists, or unless congress itself decides on another adjournment date.

Thus, the odds in the future will favor adjournment by the end of July. But the odds in the first year's operation of the congressional reorganization act favor another adjournment date. This is so, despite the fact Republican leadership in congress has selected July 26 as the tentative date for winding up the first session of the 80th congress. There are two reasons.

One is the probability that events abroad may force definitive action on the Truman-Marshall doctrine this summer. The other is the recent decision of President Truman to break his truce with congress and wage war with its leaders. It is certain to occur to them that there might be marked advantages for him in having congress out of town until next January.

For many years guessing when congress would go home has been a summer pastime, interrupted only by wars and threats of wars. The pastime supposedly was interrupted by the congressional reorganization act. But it looks as if it had at least one more year to run. In view of the fact that congress will want to go home to campaign next year, a protracted session this year is an odds-on bet.

"Candle Dip Day" in the early 1800's was a day set aside by thrifty U. S. householders to make the year's supply of tallow dips and candles.

The surgeon general of the United States says some pneumonia, measles, and whooping cough are due to malnutrition.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

Increased Tax Collections Stir Little Interest.

WASHINGTON, July 10—No one wants to mention federal finances around here. Money is a subject repugnant to Democrats and Republicans alike. Consequently when the second installment of income tax returns came in June 15, no one in the treasury congress or press paused to see if they were larger than expected due to the increased circulation of money. More receipts might justify tax reduction still more. Yet no one said anything.

When Mr. Truman sends up his budget each year six to eighteen months ahead of expenditures, and keeps it so open, no one can possibly approach definite conclusions; the topic fills air and papers. But when the tax payment time comes and you can actually see where you are, no one cares.

The June 30 treasury statement shows receipts were $4,327,000,000 in June, compared with $3,894,000,000 last June, an increase above $400 million. For the first months of the year, treasury receipts were down about the same amount ($42.5 billion last year compared with $42.1 this year,) but the increases in recent weeks shows all the treasury figures this calendar year are running currently higher than anyone has thought. The low income groups are paying more tax. In June the withholding tax receipts were up along $100 million ($753.6 million this year compared with $631.4 last year.)

Surplus Bigger

Even at the end of the fiscal year, the time of final addition, all that came out was a statement by Treasury Secretary Snyder that we had a much bigger surplus than expected, ($753.7 millions he made it,) accompanied by a warning against reducing taxes. The financially minded Wall Street Journal used just a few paragraphs on this, and in the N. Y. Times you had to look for it on Page 9. Obviously no one cared much.

Perhaps this is just as well because the treasury sneaked some next year's expenditures into last year's budget in order to hold the surplus figure down, and make the finances look worse, former Treasury Under-Secretary Hanes said the treasury "juggled" the figures to sustain the Truman fiscal argument against tax reduction. In truth, Snyder had reduced the debt by 11½ billion in the year then closing. His receipts had been $1.5 billion more than he figured. But he cut the surplus total by adding in some tax refunds, British debt advances, and other things which would normally have fallen into this fiscal year.

Dollars are worth less. Naturally more will be received in taxes from the acceleration of wages, particularly from the low wage income group. Business receipts (miscellaneous internal revenue) are off from $615 million to $601 million. High prices are taking a buying fall.

But this does not at all fit the Truman picture of the rich getting a big Republican tax reduction, so Mr. Snyder painfully views the happy or disregarded circumstances with caution. Indeed, even senate director Taft was against bringing up the delayed-tax reduction (beginning next Jan. 1) at this time. Ten appropriation bills were then unpassed.

Vandenberg Opposed

Foreign Chairman Vandenberg was even more deadset against raising the subject. Vandenberg has all his United Nations legislation to get through before adjournment, and he did not wish a tax reduction bill interfering, especially as the cut is to be promised for six months hence. It was the house Republicans, plus Democratic Senators Byrd and George, who forced Taft and Vandenberg to change their minds. The house Republicans said they intended to pass a tax reduction anyway, whether Taft agreed to take it up in the senate or not. Taft could see he would look rather conspicuous as an obstacle in such a situation. He reluctantly consented to the senate taking up the bill. Byrd made a personal poll indicating the tax reducers had 61 sure senate votes, plus 5 or 6 others who would probably go along, and all they needed was 64 votes to pass their bill over a Truman veto if all the senate happened to be present (an unlikely circumstance.) He showed there was no excuse for delay.

Not 7 Lean Years—But 17

The federal government finished the fiscal year just ended with its first surplus since 1930.

Can't you just see the comptroller general scratching his head and asking himself: "Now where did I put that bottle of black ink?"

One has known, of course, that times were good. But who thought to live to see the day when the federal government would be making a profit?

President Truman is reported writing a book to commemorate the occasion, to be entitled "Solvency Revisited—or Seventeen Years on the Wrong Side of the Ledger."

Incidentally, last year's surplus, approximately three-quarters of a billion dollars, has been applied on the national debt. At that rate, we'll be out of the hole in another 343 years.

However long the road ahead, at least we're going in the right direction. But the situation is not without its difficulties: A whole generaton of government bookkeepers must now be taught that there is something other than deficit financing.

Something for Nothing

By RAYMOND MOLEY

IN THE current Kiplinger Magazine a point is made about the glaring difference in the results of two polls on health insurance. One poll asked people if they would approve a 6 per cent deduction from wages for federal medical care and hospitalization. Only 16 per cent of the replies were favorable. Another poll asked if they approved of having social security cover doctor and hospital care. Sixty-eight per cent approved.

This is about the way people react to the subject. If they are asked to pay for having the government do something, they say no. If the inference is conveyed that they will get something for nothing, they are for it.

This love of something for nothing is what Roosevelt's New Deal exploited so successfully. It was a deliberate deception, but it had the pulling power of a beetle-trap.

Wagner Has an Idea

When the war interrupted the New Deal in 1940, the next article on the agenda was what was euphoniously but fraudulently called "health insurance." The indefatigable Senator Wagner proposed, in 1939, an extension of social security to include what he called "national health insurance."

The idea came to be embodied in what has been known as the Murray-Wagner-Dingell bill. The bill and other proposals inspired by it were vigorously exploited. Battles were staged in congressional committees. The fight spilled out over the country into state politics, newspapers, medical and welfare associations, radio programs and so on.

The M-W-D bill has been unsuccessful so far—largely because of the overwhelming opposition of the medical profession and the organized work of the National Physicians' committee, the spearhead of the American Medical association.

Mostly a Handout

But each year the M-W-D plan has reappeared, like Puck, in a new embodiment. If a certain feature meets stiff and convincing criticism one year, the next edition amends that feature. But no matter how much it is pruned, it is the same tree. It is not insurance, for it is not self-supporting. It is not collective medical care, for its beneficiaries do not pay for what they get. It is plainly government medicine, for the most part a handout which does not admit that it is charity.

The current edition of the bill, s.1320, contains the usual Wagneresque overture of sententious purpose. It proposes a vast range of services for practically everyone who wishes free service and his dependents. It covers all sorts of medical, dental, nursing and hospital services. In part, it would be paid for by a tax on wages and on payrolls and, in part, by general taxation. Its ramifications go into state and local public health, into hospitals, private voluntary health associations and the like.

Such a setup, of course, involves a New Dealer's delirium of bureaucracy. Administrators, federal, state and local committees, councils and advisers abound, as well as fact-finding—to the tune of millions.

A Real Threat

Nothing ever was conceived or devised which would more effectively reduce the medical profession to dependence on the government and tie state and local agencies to the wheels of the federal government.

This bill has no chance of passage this year, but it may well be the keystone of next year's Democratic platform. It is a threat which deserves far more public attention than it has yet been receiving.

The coal contract is effective only when miners are "able and willing to work". Fortunately they have John Lewis to tell them when they're both.

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Saturday, July 10, 1937.

Marion and vicinity continued to swelter in a heat wave that cost 121 lives in the nation and two in Ohio in addition to causing hundreds of prostrations from coast to coast.

John D. McKisson, 94, a Civil War veteran and for many years a draftsman at the Marion Steam Shovel Co. plant, died at the home of a stepdaughter, Mrs. J. M. Tucker in Columbus.

The marriage of Miss Evelyn Edwards of Marion and Kenneth Spriggs of Mt. Gilead took place in Emanuel Lutheran parsonage, with Rev. J. W. Schillinger reading the ceremony.

Members of Company D, Ohio National Guard unit, returned from strike duty in eastern Ohio. The 47 officers and men arrived by truck from Warren after being on duty since June 22.

Mrs. Katherine Louise Arndt, 80, died at the home of her son, Charles H. Arndt of Park street.

Road Report

By International News Service

NEW YORK — Almost half of the 3.3 million miles of highways in the United States is unsurfaced and another third is surfaced only in soil or gravel, says a Twentieth Century Fund report.

Only a Beginning

By MARK SULLIVAN

WASHINGTON, July 10—Superficially, as a piece of paper, the new coal-wage contract is an ordinary agreement between individuals and groups they represent. One party to the contract is Mr. John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers. The other party is certain major owners of coal mines. Among these the most important are steel companies which own coal mines, especially the United States Steel Corporation.

But the consequences of this contract are not limited to the participants; the effect on them is only a beginning. From them the consequences spread to the entire economy of the country and to every citizen.

Miners will get some $1.75 more per day. Coal will cost some 75 cents more per ton to consumers. (Neither of these figures can be exact—the wage raise varies with different types of work, and the price increase with different kinds of coal and uses of it.)

That is only the beginning. Everything made in industries which use coal as fuel will cost more to make, hence will cost more to the public. In one industry, steel, the increase is estimated at some $1.50 a ton. This will spread outward and upward into every article made of steel or into which steel enters. Coal is used by railroads as fuel, hence every article carried by railroads as freight will cost more to carry. No need to illustrate further. The process set in motion by this new coal-wage contract is automatic and cumulative, a certain step upward toward a higher price level for goods generally and the country generally.

Question of Interests

The men who made this contract could have acted upon their respective private interests solely, or could take into account the public consequences of what they did. The private interest of Mr. Lewis is served fully; he got substantially what he demanded and got it practicaldy without opposition. On the other side the leading representative of mine owners was Mr. Benjamin F. Fairless, president of United States Steel. Had he acted in the interest of mine owners solely and simply, his course might have been to resist the demanded wage-raise and fight it out. That course, if successful, would have been in the public interest also, for prevention of the wage raise would have averted the effects on the country that are now in sight.

Mr. Fairless, apparently seeing the public interest in a different way, says he acted in that interest. As the contract was made he said he was "hopeful" it would bring "industrial peace in the bituminous coal industry for a long time to come. . . . This should prove to be highly beneficial to the whole economy of the nation. . . . In my judgment a coal strike at this time would have paralyzed the industry of the entire country and might also have had an adverse effect upon the international situation."

A course other than Mr. Fairless' but believing that averting a strike was the paramount consideration, gives an additional reason. A strike might have led to another taking over of the mines by the government, another in a series now considerable. And each taking over is a temporary nationalization of coal; the end might be permanent nationalization.

An Oft' Told Story

Mr. Fairless, regardless of his motive or line of reasoning, arrived at a result that has become somberly familiar. He appeased what he feared. But even if the appeasement achieved what he hoped for, a different kind of tragedy can come to America as a result of the course he took.

A chief cause of our boom-bust of the 1920's was the taking of too much of the fruits of industry by labor and owners; failure to give enough to the public, in the form of reduced prices of goods. This is now being repeated in coal. Labor is to get more wages, industry must charge higher prices to pay the wages, the public must pay higher prices for goods. Poor public.

Radios Are Urged For Brazil's Planes

By The Associated Press

RIO DE JANEIRO—Forty U. S. flight radio officers stationed here, motivated by recent air disasters, plan to ask Congress to require trained radio officers on all international flights of commercial airlines as a passenger safety precaution.

This group, headed by Fred Irons, of Decatur, Ga., claims that a trend to eliminate flight radio officers removes the main safety factor on international air routes, especially those over seas, mountains and foreign territory unequipped with safety measures equal to those within the United States.

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

The Worm and the Economic Setup

It's happened!

The ultimate in taxation has arrived! The worm now pays a tax on the worm! The cycle is complete!

At last we have worm taxation in which no worm escapes, the hole is plugged at both extremes and it is a case of both ends against the middle.

We made the sad discovery on a fishing trip in Connecticut the other day. We needed some sand worms for bait, and there's a story of the new economic order in worms, too. (They are now 5 cents each. Every time a fish strips your hook he is stealing a nickel!) We asked for two dozen and handed over the money.

"Three cents more," said the worm store mogul.

"For what?" we asked.

"Sales tax," he replied.

"A who?"

"Sales tax," he repeated.

"These are worms, not bracelets, garters, kiddie toys, bridge prizes or table decorations," we argued unbelievingly.

"Three cents sales tax," he repeated

"Listen," we said. "There must be some misunderstanding. We are a man going fishing, not a purchasing agent restocking an establishment."

"There's a sales tax on worms like everything else," snapped the proprietor of the Eclipse Wormery.

"You mean it!" we exclaimed. "The clutching hand of the legislator and economist have reached out and grasped the lowly worm? . . . The firm grip of the internal revenue department is now embracing fish bait?"

"You said it," replied the worm dispenser. "And is it a headache! Keeping track of worms is enough but keeping track of the taxes on worms is worse. Every time a worm gets away I feel kind of guilty as it's a loss to the Government."

We paid the sales tax, took our worms and went fishing. But the day was ruined. Fishing to us will never be quite the same. It always seemed symbolic of escape from material things, of immunity from worry. Out in a rowboat we felt carefree and safe. No more, however.

From now on a bait can will be a reminder of internal revenue bureaus.

In every worm we shall see a symbol of taxation, mounting debt, screwball economics, etc

We can never again look at a worm on a hook and think of it merely as a worm; it will become something linked up with notary publics, seals, quizzes and tax forms.

Not only that, but with worms costing a nickel each, regardless of the tax, we shall always think of the fish down there making a sap of us . . . snapping off the bait and putting us deeper in the red . . . grabbing 5-cent pieces and chortling "We must have that fool fisherman nearly out of dough by now."

It's a cruel world. Wana buy some rods, reels, sinkers and bait boxes cheap?

Better Beds To Lie In

By TRUMAN TWILL

Never a fellow to scoff at science, we nevertheless are the kind of a fellow who feels that scientists get off on the wrong foot sometimes.

Take the matter of beds. Instead of fooling around with better ways to blow people to bits, why don't scientists invent an electric bed with all-season temperature control?

This thought occurred to us in connection with a hospital bed we were examining recently. Turn a crank on the left side, at the foot, and the top third of the bed rose, until the bed had a back rest. Turn a crank on the right side and the bottom third of the bed came up in the same way. An adjustable whingus on the bottom third made it possible to change the contour of the mattress.

A few tests made it clear here was the bed of the future. All science needs to do is replace the manual operation with electric motors that can be started and stopped with switches the occupant can reach with an easy motion of the arm. For reading, the bed will be converted into a kind of chaise longue. For resting, the foot can be raised. It won't even take scientists. Engineers could do it.

Having gone that far, it would be only a logical step to wire the bed for heat in winter and cool in summer. This could be done on the sound principle of heating and cooling the mattress. Bed covers would become incidental, used only to keep in the heat or the cold, as the case might be.

With electricity already installed, it would be no trouble thereafter to wire the bed for sound so radio addicts wouldn't have to bother any more with bedside radio sets. The sound would come out of the bed itself, a principle already established in a type of radio set now on the market, and the listener alone would be able to hear what was coming in.

There also would be alarm clock bells that could be heard only by one person, and at slight extra cost the alarm clock could be hooked up to the automatic machinery for lifting the top third of the bed so a sleeper who lingered more than five minutes would be raised into a sitting position.

These are a few of the things scientists and engineers could be doing if they'd think less about raising cain and more about raising the standards of comfort. Probably a bed that rolled under its own power to the kitchen so a sleeper could have his breakfast in bed without getting out of bed is too much to ask for at this time—but we can wait.

If they can make a hospital bed that can be changed to various positions by turning cranks, they can make a bed for the poor dumb public that will do the same thing with motors. Our advice to the boys responsible for better beds to lie in is to get on the ball.

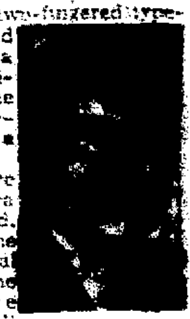
Vacation in America Called 48-Ring Circus

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Writer



Hal Boyle

NEW YORK—If you aren't taking [illegible] vacation in America this [illegible] missing the biggest [illegible] the world.

[illegible] 48-ring show without [illegible]

[illegible] months I've been going [illegible] the country with rod and a two-fingered typewriter [illegible] had [illegible] than a [illegible] clown- [illegible] come [illegible] ev- [illegible] but a [illegible]sm. [illegible] have America [illegible] world, [illegible] the material [illegible] the [illegible] have [illegible]—all languages, landscapes. [illegible] tourist enjoys one pleasure he won't get abroad—if he's gypped, it's in his own slang. It's more fun to know how it happened.

The mountains, the deserts, the plains of this vast country may wear you down—but you never can get tired of the people. Not if you keep moving anyway. There's always a different breed with a fresh accent and viewpoint down the road a piece.

Learn Odd Things

And you learn all manner of odd things, whether you hitchhike or go by your own airplane. For example:

There are better yodelers in Wisconsin than Switzerland. (The Swiss in Switzerland are going in for dance bands.)

You can get a "Kansas City steak" easier in New York or San Diego than you can in Kansas City.

"If you ask for orange juice in St. Louis, they squeeze it out of the orange. But if you ask for it in Florida or California, where oranges grow, they are more likely to pour it out of a can.

The best way to tell a good hotel is to ask: "Do you have one-day laundry service?"

Bus Drivers Tough

Long distance bus drivers are pretty courteous to women passengers, but have few kind words for men riders.

The things a pullman conductor hates worst for you to ask are: (1) What town is this," and (2) "are we on time?"

Mockingbirds stay up later than the millionaires in Santa Barbara. Sing better, too.

There is no such thing as a perfect climate. The best place for all-around living is where you can find the most friends.

The people love to eat in North Carolina, but so do the plants. It is the habitat of the venus fly catcher, nature's own DDT against insects.

Kansas is exporting her sons as well as her wheat to other states. The governor wants to keep the sons at home.

Manhattan Cabbies

The most helpful taxicab drivers are in Los Angeles, where they earn their tips by service. The least helpful to a customer with baggage are Manhattan cabbies. They think their conversation is worth a tip. Often it is.

The most genteel agriculturalists are the movie producers in San Fernando valley. "Tomatoes cost us a buck apiece to grow," one told me proudly.

But what interests you most about travel in America, a pattern in perpetual flux, is the endless incongruity you meet.

Let me give you one example. If England, Germany or Russia passed a prohibition law, a certain percentage of people still would drink, whether or not heads rolled in penalty and prisons filled. But I doubt if they'd get around the statute this way:

In dry Oklahoma I saw a prominent host whose supply of liquid refreshment for a party was running low go to the phone and call up the chief of police.

"Chief," he said, "where's the best place in town to buy a quart?"

And he got the answer he was after. That may be a bad moral situation, but it points up one thing in America. Folks largely get what they want—whether it's good for them or not.

Roberts-Bender Ceremony Read In Church Here

OPEN church was observed Sunday afternoon at First Evangelical United Brethren church for the wedding of Miss Marion Louise Roberts, daughter of Mr and Mrs Henry Roberts of 756 Henry street, and Auguste R Bender, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Bender of 224 Elm street.

The double ring ceremony was read at 2 30 o clock by the pastor, Rev Garrison Roebuck, before the altar which was decorated with white gladioli and pink roses against a background of palms and two seven-branch candelabra.

A half hour of nuptial music was played by Miss Donna Crabtree of Morral preceding the ceremony, and her sister, Miss Nina Crabtree, sang. The instrumental numbers were "My Hero," Strauss, "One Alone," Romberg, "The Sweetest Story Ever Told," Stults, "Sweethearts," Herbert, "Anniversary Song," Jolson, "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life" Herbert, "Liebestraum," Liszt, "Nocturne," Chopin, "I Love You Truly," Bond and "Bridal Chorus," Wagner, "Always," Berlin, during the ceremony, and "Wedding March," Mendelssohn. Vocal selections were "Oh Promise Me" and "Because."

Miss Barbara Roberts, sister of the bride lighted the candles and Mr Roberts gave his daughter in marriage.

The bride was costumed in a princess style gown of satin with a scalloped sweetheart neckline edged with self covered buttons. Long sleeves ended in points at the hands, the dress back was accented with a bustle bow, and the skirt extended into a short train. The fingertip veil was of tulle made in cap shape and gathered in a ruffle at the face. Carried by the bride was a white Bible which was carried by her sister, Mrs Harold Dowler at her wedding. It was centered by a pink orchid showered with white satin knotted streamers. Only jewelry was a strand of pearls.

As maid of honor, Miss Helen Gruver wore a light green satin gown with fitted bodice and full skirt, and carried an arm bouquet of pink asters tied with green ribbon. Ring bearer was Geneva Dowler, young niece of the bride. She wore a pink satin dress with fitted bodice and full skirt, and a head band of blue delphinium tied with blue ribbon.

Miss Roberts wore for lighting the candles a gown of pink satin of the same style as that of the maid of honor, and a wrist band of white carnations. The Misses Crabtree were gowned alike in green dotted Swiss, and their corsages were pink carnations.

A dress of dusty rose crepe was worn by Mrs Roberts for her daughter's wedding, and her accessories were in white. Mrs Bender chose a dress of grey floral crepe with white accessories. Both wore gardenia corsages.

Best man for Mr Bender was Karl E Nagley, and ushers were Henry and Robert Roberts, brothers of the bride, and Richard McGinnis. Gifts of the bride to the maid of honor and pianist were earrings, and pins to the soloist candlelighter and ring bearer, and the bridegroom gave his best man a charm piece and to the ushers, tieclasps.

Following the ceremony, the bride's parents entertained with a buffet supper in their home. The table held a three-tier wedding cake which was decorated with pink candles and roses. Assisting Mrs Roberts was Mrs Roy Stoner and daughter, Miss Martha Stoner, and Mrs Guy Johnston of Doylestown.

When the couple left on their wedding trip to New York City, Mrs Bender was dressed in aqua crepe with white accessories, and wore her wedding orchid.

She was graduated from Harding High school this year and is an employe of the S S Kresge Co. 25 cent to $1 store, and her husband a Harding High school graduate of 1943, is employed at Rieger & Son Inc here. They will make their home with his parents on Elm street.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding besides the musicians and Mrs Johnston, assisting hostess, were her husband, Guy Johnston and son, Eugene, and H V Wilson of Doylestown, Mr. and Mrs Paul Young of Akron, Rev and Mrs Marvin Crabtree of Morral and Miss Jeanette Smith of Cardington.

Marion Man Takes Bride in Church At Worthington

THE Methodist Episcopal church in Worthington was the scene of the wedding of Miss Jeanne Switalski, daughter of Mr and Mrs Clemens Albert Switalski of Portsmouth, and Dr Richard Karr Miller son of Mr and Mrs Dale E Miller of 287 South Vine street, Saturday morning, June 21. For the ceremony, read at 10 30 o'clock by Rev. D Finley Wood, the altar was decorated with greenery and white gladioli and lighted with tapers.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white slipper satin, fashioned on princess lines with seed pearl trim. The long sleeves were shaped like calla lilies over the hands. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a tiara of seed pearls and stephanotis. She carried a white antique prayer book marked with a white orchid and wore a gold band bracelet, a family heirloom and the bridegroom's gift a strand of pearls.

Mrs C C Caudill of Worthington, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and her only attendant. Her off-the-shoulder type gown styled with a bustle back and full skirt, was of white summer taffeta and her colonial bouquet held pink shattered carnations and blue delphinium. Dr Harry Cope of Lisbon, served as best man for the bridegroom and C C Caudill seated the guests.

A reception followed at the Delta Gamma House where Mrs Switalski received the guests in a gown of pastel blue crepe with lace and a corsage of gardenias. Mrs Miller wore a beige summer crepe gown and her flowers were gardenias and white roses. Assisting at the reception were Misses Joan Barcroft, Mary Carolyn Rhoades, Mrs Paul Hatfield and Mrs Herschel Atkinson.

The bride was graduated from Ohio State university where she is a member of Delta Gamma sorority, Chimes and Mortar Board. Dr Miller, also a graduate of Ohio State university, is a member of Phi Gamma Delta and Phi Chi fraternities.

Dr. and Mrs Miller have gone to Ft. Worth, Tex , where he will serve his internship at St Joseph's hospital.

Weddings

Announcement is being made of the marriage of Mrs Mildred Walter, daughter of Mrs. Avis Clark of 187 Union street, and Carl Dardinger of Marion. The couple repeated their vows in a double ring candlelight service read Thursday, July 3, at 7.30 o clock in the evening in the Central Christian church by the pastor, Rev Eldred Johnston.

Mrs Walter was attired in a blue jersey dress with which she combined brown and white accessories. Her jewelry was a gold locket, a gift from the bridegroom, and her flowers were a corsage of red rosebuds and white carnations. Mrs. C G. Scott, sister of the bride, was her only attendant. She wore a beige suit with brown accessories and a corsage of rosebuds and larkspur. Little Miss Barbara Kay Walter, dressed in a pink dotted Swiss dress with a halo of delphinium and baby breath in her hair, carried the rings on a white satin pillow.

E E Crizer served as best man.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs Clark chose a brown and white dress with brown accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

A reception for relatives and close friends in the church social rooms followed the ceremony. Serving were Mrs George M Clark and Mrs C G Scott. When the couple left on a wedding trip which will take them to Kentucky, Tennessee and Oklahoma, Mrs Dardinger was wearing a green suit with brown and white accessories.

Mrs Dardinger is a graduate of Harding High school and the White Cross hospital school of nursing. She has been employed as nurse at the Commercial Steel Casting Co plant. Mr. Dardinger attended high school at Upper Sandusky and is employed as a welder at the Commercial Steel Casting Co plant.

Mrs Dardinger presented her attendant a pair of earrings, and the bridegroom gave his best man a tie clasp.

Out of town guests included Mrs Frances Halsey and family of Kenton, Mr. and Mrs Ralph Braskett of Columbus, and Mrs. R. E Foley and sons, Mrs. Walter Doudna, and Mrs William Cain of Delaware.

Coal Output Nears Normal

"Able, Willing" Miners Back in Pits with Small Exceptions.

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, July 10—The nation's bituminous production spurted toward normal today as "able and willing" AFL miners from the north and south dug coal under terms of a new and unprecedented wage agreement.

Southern mine operators—last holdouts to the "take-it-or-leave-it" terms of John L Lewis—capitulated yesterday. The vast West Virginia and east Kentucky bituminous mine interests signed first, leaving less than 10 per cent of the nation's soft coal production unaccounted for.

However, mines in Virginia and Tennessee were described as temporarily withholding signature because they feared collision with state laws regulating the closed shop and dues checkoff

Hartley Sounds Sour Note

The only sour note came from Washington where Rep Fred Hartley (R-NJ) co-author of the Taft-Hartley labor law, warned that coal operators risk criminal prosecution for signing the Lewis contract He claimed it violates the new labor act

Laurence J Tierney Jr., a signer and a spokesman for the Southern association, summed up the employers reaction to Hartley's charge

"If we're wrong, we're perfectly willing to be wrong And we hope Fred Hartley is right I hope we'll be able to pick comfortable cells We'll probably have good companionship"

Virtually normal production in the northern, western and mid-western coal fields was expected today Nearly 135,000 of the 300,000 miners covered by the northern signing reported yesterday

10,000 At Work

Many of the south's 100 000 coal diggers also prepared to work today although industry sources did not expect normal operations there until the end of the week

The miners went back with a 44½ cent hourly increase in pay, hiking the daily rate from $11 85 for a nine-hour day to $13 05 for eight hours The contract covers the employment of miners only during the time as "such persons are able and willing to work"

The new contract promises at least a year of peace in the usually turbulent coal fields, scene of four walkouts in the past eight months Two of the stoppages were on a national level.

"It's the best contract we ever had," summed up a grizzled mine veteran. But he voiced the fear that increased living costs might eat up most of the benefits.

"Watch the prices go up now," he added. "We'll need all of our raise to make ends meet."

Ohio Mine Struck As Owner Balks at Terms

By The Associated Press

CANTON, O., July 10—Union miners stayed away from the Little Coal mine operated by J. G. Thoma today after he balked at one stipulation in John L. Lewis New York contract.

The item Thoma disliked was the levy of 10 cents a ton for the United Mine Workers' welfare fund, so he told his 30 employes that hereafter the mine would be operated on a non-union basis

"They say the money goes into the union welfare fund," said Thoma, "but it's John Lewis that hands it out."

But he conceded it would be "pretty hard" to obtain non-union help, and asked his workers to come back Monday for his final decision

The miners, apprised of Thoma's position, quickly decided to go home yesterday, and returned later only to procure their pay checks and ask for job releases

The mine is near Malvern, south of here in Carroll county and produces about 35,000 tons a year.

A-BOMB

his committee planned to double its security staff to bolster its "watchdog" role over atomic research

Makes Cryptic Reference

In asking congress for more money for his committee's work, Hickenlooper referred cryptically to national and international developments of "vital importance within the past 10 days.

Hickenlooper did not explain publicly his reference to recent "vital developments on the national and international atomic scene

However, in a separate statement he warned that the United Nations' atomic energy commission was being "led down a false trail" in discussing a "disturbing" possibility—that of destroying this nation's atomic bomb stockpile He described this as a Russian "red herring" and warned that the senate "will not tolerate" any atomic treaty based on destruction of the stockpiles or discontinuance of American bomb production

Army Blamed

The theft of the Los Alamos documents brought some demands for doing away with the civilian atomic energy commission and turning its duties over to military control But Hickenlooper told the senate that the theft occurred while the atomic project was in control of the army's Manhattan Engineering District, headed by Maj Gen. Leslie R Groves

Rep. James E. Van Zandt, (R) of Pennsylvania, a member of Hickenlooper's committee, told a reporter the stolen data comprised photographic negatives of secret machinery He said the negatives were subsequently left unguarded in a Chicago photographic shop operated by one of the sergeants Although Van Zandt said the Los Alamos incident was the only security breach yet reported he urged more stringent safeguarding measures

Hickenlooper's disclosure of the Los Alamos theft came when he took the senate floor to deny a New York Sun dispatch that "unknown agents working within the atomic energy plant" at Oak Ridge, Tenn., had stolen "several files" of top secret data because of a "startling laxity" of security officers there. It predicted a complete reorganization of the U S atomic setup

Truman Confirms Story on Atom "Leak"

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON July 10 Senator Hickenlooper's (R-Iowa) statement yesterday on the removal and recovery of atomic energy files was described by President Truman today as a clear explanation of what happened

The subject came up at a news conference when a reporter asked Mr Truman if any other papers were missing besides those which were taken from a New Mexico project by two army sergeants.

The President declared that Senator Hickenlooper had clearly explained the situation to the senate yesterday

In the house, Rep Rankin (D-Miss) voiced a demand that congress be given the names and backgrounds of the two army sergeants involved

"It is simply silly," to say the men took the files as souvenirs, Rankin told the house "Why didn't Benedict Arnold and his crowd think of that?"

OHIO EVICTIONS SEEN PILING UP IN AUGUST

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., July 10 — Ohio's "E—for eviction—days" are most likely to appear in August rather than July.

An Associated Press survey of eviction suits filed in state courts since OPA rent controls were relaxed July 1 today showed only Cleveland, Ohio's largest city, with a soaring number of landlords seeking to get their tenants out of present living quarters.

The nrotheastern metropolis found its municipal court swamped yesterday with 2,000 new suits on file, bringing to 4,000 the total eviction actions initiated since July 1

Elsewhere the situation was approximately normal and eviction court judges contended this was based chiefly on the fact most landlords must give 30-days notice before the state's three-day eviction machinery can start moving.

Judge John M. Matthias, presiding in municipal court here, reported he had handled 55 actions in two days, an abnormal increase. But he said he expected a "flood" of eviction petitions next month mainly because "most people paid their July rents before the new law became effective."

Most Columbus cases, Judge Matthias said, came from owners seeking to occupy newly acquired premises. He said that bailiffs were required by law to carry out the evictions 10-days after judgments are returned.

Dayton municipal court judges, however, said they expected at least twice as many filings in July compared with May and June. They said that thus far 35 petitions had been filed.

NO EVICTION ACTION INCREASE IN MARION

F. H LeMasters, bailiff of Marion municipal court reported there has been no increase in eviction actions here. He said that so far during July approximately three had been filed, which is the normal average for a 10-day period.

House Republicans Push Armed Forces Merge Bill

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 10— A senate-approved plan to unify the army, navy and air forces under a civilian secretary of national security arrived in the house today bearing the "must" stamp of the G.O.P. leadership.

Chairman Hoffman (R-Mich) of a house expenditures subcommittee called his group together to discuss the terms of a bill of its own to accomplish the same purpose.

The subcommittee was not expected to reach agreement immediately, but high ranking house Republicans said privately the version which will be okayed in the end will follow pretty closely the measure which passed the senate by voice vote late yesterday.

Majority Leader Halleck (Ind) has made it plain that the unification bill, which President Truman has urged repeatedly, must be dealt with before adjournment late this month.

CROPS

least 20 years, Wayne County Extension Agent George Dustman predicted.

"The optimistic crop estimate that can be made on northeastern Ohio crops is for a yield of 75 per cent of last year," he asserted.

He pointed out, however, that this figure was based on a "statistical bushels-per-acre return" and declared that in terms of feed potential, he doubted if more than a 50 per cent return could be expected.

Dustman gave this summary of conditions in northeastern counties:

Corn—Best hope is for a 74 per cent return. "The wet, cold days and nights now prevailing preclude any possibility of corn making a grain crop." he said.

Wheat—Once expected to return one of the largest yields in history; now running only about 75 per cent in acre return.

Oats—Completely wiped out.

The agent, who serves one of Ohio's leading agricultural counties, declared the adverse weather also was affecting the dairy, beef cattle, hog and poultry prospects

Market Livestock

The poor grain outlook, Dustman said, has caused farmers to liquidate dairy herds, send light hogs to market and reduce poultry operations.

"Farmers are already culling dairy herds to the bone," he added, "and reports are coming in daily that they are selling hogs light and beef cattle before they are ready, and poultry farmers are cutting back flock numbers.

"The net result of this can only be that consumers will pay higher prices for all these products in the fall."

Dustman said agriculturists who had expected favorable hay prospects to offset late grain plantings now are finding the hay not up to standard.

"Alfalfa and clover hay, high protein substitutes, for the grains, are not yielding up to expectations and farmers are hunting hurricane cellars against the coming short-feed tempest in the fall," the agent said.

Nazi's Wife Denies Using Human Skin for Shades

By The Associated Press

DACHAU, GERMANY, July 10—Mrs. Ilse Koch, plump, red-haired widow of the former commandant of Buchenwald concentration camp, denied before an American military tribunal today that she had made lamp shades from the skin of executed inmates.

The 45-year-old woman, who became pregnant while awaiting trial for her life on war crimes charges, is accused of having ruled brutally over the Nazi camp with her husband, who died in 1943. She is the only woman among the 31 defendants on trial. No official explanation has been offered as to how she became pregnant while in custody.

Mrs. Koch is accused specifically of having ordered the execution of prisoners so that she could use their skins for her lamp shades.

3 O. S. U. Huck Finns Brush with Police On Mississippi Trip

By The United Press

ANGOLA, La., July 10—The trip down the Mississippi river by three Ohio State students in an aluminum rowboat was under way again today after a brush with Louisiana prison guards and a pack of bloodhounds.

The trio — Dick Spaeth, Dick Howell and Pete Rider—camped on the banks of the Mississippi near Angola, site of Louisiana's state penitentiary. After breaking camp, Spaeth discovered he had left his wallet on the ground and sped back on foot to get it.

But Spaeth was mistaken for a runaway convict by the bloodhounds, and the engineering student took safety in a tree. Guards took Spaeth into custody while he established his identity by means of the missing wallet.

The youths, who are due to arrive in New Orleans later today, began their long paddle down the Mississippi from Columbus, last month. They ran out of funds earlier this week at Memphis and had to take odd jobs for a day to replenish their "ship's stores."

SLAUGHTER

into trouble. Certainly that was the case on the morning of July 18, 1946, when he told the representatives from every metropolitan paper of any size in the United States that he had 'asked my old friend, Jim Pendergast, to help.'"

Public Admission

That request, Slaughter said, was "the public admission of a partnership that has brought the presidency into disrepute and which, at the same time, has certainly adversely affected the political fortunes of the man who made the admission."

"The joint venture of Messrs. Truman and Pendergast proceeded according to schedule and was apparently successful. Postmaster General Hannegan applauded the results achieved But like their coharts of 1936, the political roustabouts of 1946 became carried away with their enthusiasm and simply failed to take into account the mathematical improbability of the returns which they concocted. So sure were they of the ground on which they stood, that they did not even bother to make the ballots and the count check."

Slaughter traced developments which ultimately led to the return of some 70 indictments for alleged vote irregularities in the 1946 primary election, and mentioned the theft from the Kansas City election commissioner's vault of ballots to be used in prosecution of the cases.

"Just Consider Source," Truman Says of Charge

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 10—President Truman said today that in view of the source he isn't worried about a statement of former Rep. Roger Slaughter that a 'scandal threatens" the office of the president.

Slaughter, former Missouri congressman who was defeated for renomination last year by a Truman - endorsed candidate, made the assertion in an address prepared for delivery before a public affairs forum in Tulsa, Okla., today.

Slaughter said he considered Mr. Truman "personally an honest and honorable man." But "like Grant and Harding, he has been misled by false friends, and has likewise been the victim of his his impetuosity."

Mr. Truman was asked at a news conference whether he had heard about Slaughter's remarks. He replied all he knew was what he learned from a memorandum sent in to him by a reporter.

He said he considered the source of the speech and then added it didn't worry him any.

No Nation-Wide Trip Planned, Truman Says

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 10—President Truman said today he does not plan to make a cross-country trip this fall as has been urged by officials of the Democratic national committee.

Questioned about the proposed trip at a news conference, Mr. Truman said he has no plans for any trip anywhere.

Mr. Truman was asked if he planned a visit to Brazil in response to an invitation. He replied in the negative

DISAPPEARANCE IN CAVE CALLED HOAX

By The Associated Press

NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 10—State Safety Commissioner Lynn Bomar announced today John T. Hurn, for whom a week's search had been made in Nickajack cave at Shellmound, Tenn., had been located in New York City and that Hurn's reported disappearance in the cavern was "a hoax from beginning to end."

Bomar said Hurn never had been lost in the gloomy, bat-infested commercial cave which had been searched by the state highway patrol, the Red Cross, National Guard, Boy Scouts and scores of private parties since Hurn's brother reported his disappearance.

Hollis Hurn, who with John is part owner of the cave, still insisted today, he believed John was lost in the cave when he first reported his disappearance last Tuesday.

Bomar said that instead of getting lost in many-passaged, miles-deep Nickajack John Hurn was driven to Birmingham in an automobile July 1 and boarded a train there the next day for New York.

The commissioner said a telephone call was received early this morning from John Hurn in New York.

The telephone call was made to Capt. J. Jackson, of Bomar's state highway patrol this morning, after Bomar and Jackson had been in conference most of the night with an informant who said John Hurn had been aided by friends in his getaway to Birmingham.

"I'm sorry it all happened," Jackson quoted Hurn. "The whole thing got out of hand and I'll come back to Tennessee in a few days probably before Monday."

"I have known Hurn for years and there is no question that it was 'Tuck,' as we call him talking," Jackson said. Hurn formerly operated a night club in Nashville.

EARTHQUAKE RECORDED

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, July 10—A "fairly sharp" earthquake was recorded today on the Fordham university seismograph, Rev. Joseph J. Lynch, seismologist, reported. The first shock was at 6:00.30 a. m. and the second at 6:05.55. He estimated the distance at 2,300 miles, probably southwest.

Reports on Convention Of Townsend Clubs

A report on the national convention of Townsend clubs held at Washington, D. C. recently, was given by Arthur Hershner, president, at a meeting of the Old Age Pension Society of Marion County Friday afternoon in the Eagles' hall. In addition to his report on the convention he told of some of his observations. More aged and ailing persons in the large cities are sleeping in parks because of high rents and living, he said, and added that he saw no drunks in Washington

William Porter reported Rease Jenkins and Christian Ruth as being ill. Music included selections by the choir, "The Unclouded Day" and "Sweet Bye and Bye," and a vocal number, "Never Grow Old," by W. E. Sergent. Prayer by Mrs. Elizabeth Howser and devotions and patriotic exercises by the group, opened the meeting The closing prayer was by William Porter.

AID EUROPE

the President added, he sees no present need for such a session

Mr. Truman told a news conference it would be impossible to say definitely whether it would be necessary to call the lawmakers back to Washington before next January until the results of the Paris conference are assayed.

(The Paris conference opens Saturday at the call of Britain and France, with attendance by at least 15 of the nations invited already assured. The session will consider Secretary of State Marshall's proposal that Europe work out a self-help program of rehabilitation and then advise the United States what additional help may be needed).

Mr. Truman said the Marshall plan may come up in his scheduled meeting Monday with house and senate leaders, although he said the meeting was not called for that purpose.

Primary purpose of Monday's White House session, the President said, is to discuss the problem of displaced persons.

The President said he had no comment on the refusal of most of the eastern European countries to attend the Paris conference.

Poland's Refusal To Talk Aid Plans, Laid to Russia

WASHINGTON, July 10 — Poland's refusal to attend the Paris conference on the Marshall plan was blamed by American officials today on Russia's "iron control."

At the same time authorities here expressed increasing respect for the earlier decision of the Czechoslovak government to take part in the meeting. In view of Poland's action, it is now generally assumed that the Czechs acted in defiance of Moscow's wishes.

Whether this will prompt the Soviets to crack down on Czechoslovakia, as officials believe they did on Poland, is not known. But there has been official apprehension here for some time that the Soviets might seek to assure continued strong Communist representation in the Prague government by forcing changes in the election laws and by taking other restrictive measures.

POLICE CHECK ALIBI OF ACTRESS' FRIEND

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, July 10—The alibi of a bald-headed business man, married and the father of two grown children, was investigated by police today after they questioned him for many hours in their inquiry into the death of a former actress whose nude, strangled body was found yesterday in her West 57th street apartment.

His name was one of many found in the woman's six address books. Police said he admitted being with her Monday night and had given them conflicting details.

The victim, known here as Mrs. Sheila Mannering, 49, was found dead, a bed sheet knotted around her neck and a towel stuffed in her mouth, by a maid who entered her bedroom yesterday. The body lay between twin beds, one of which had been occupied, and police said an autopsy showed the woman had had intimate relations with a man before she was killed. They said the slaying probably occurred Tuesday afternoon.

Police Commissioner Arthur W Wallander, personally directing more than 50 detectives working on the case, said that "statements had been obtained" from two garment center manufacturers who were among those questioned. But he did not disclose their names or comment on their statements other than to say that "nothing definite" had been uncovered.

Because acquaintances said Mrs. Mannering customarily inspected visitors through a peep hole before admitting them to her $87.50-a-month apartment, police said they believed the slayer was not a stranger.

A neighbor living on the same floor said a "short, fat, bald man" visited Mrs. Mannering almost every night, Wallander said.

The commissioner said information on the victim's income was scanty. She was registered as Bessie K. True with the casting office of First National pictures in Hollywood from 1924 to 1941. She came to New York shortly after 1941 and in 1946 she worked as a radio bit actress for the National Broadcasting Company, Wallander said.

Check books in the apartment showed only small deposits, but storage checks for two mink coats were found, police said. Several handbags contained a total of $52. Many pieces of jewelry were found.

ELECTRICAL LISTENER

PORTLAND, Ore.—A woman recently got the surprise of her life when firemen putting out a small fire found four dictographs hidden in her home. From near the telephone and from three other rooms, wires were traced to a comfortable "listening post" under the front steps where the secret observer had rigged up a bed and laid in a supply of candy bars and drinking water. Her husband an electrician appeared later to explain he had put in the devices to guard his home against suspected burglars.

15 Subway Riders See Boy Crushed to Death

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, July 10—At least 15 passengers in a subway coach saw Anthony Manno, 11-year-old newsboy, carried to his death yesterday while clinging to the side of the coach.

Police said that any one of them could have prevented the accident by pulling the emergency stop cord, but all sat transfixed.

The boy, after clinging to the coach for seven blocks on an elevated section of the line, was crushed between the coach and a station structure when the train came into the station. He had grabbed at the center post of the coach doorway just as the doors slid shut.

With the rubber-edged doors closed around his hand, the boy had managed to keep a foothold on the two-inch sill on the outside of the doorway until he was smashed against the shed.

UN REORGANIZATION CALLED PREMATURE

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 10—Senators George (D-Ga) and Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) today branded as premature a proposal by 22 members of congress that the United States take the lead in trying to put peace enforcement teeth into the United Nations charter.

George, a member of the senate foreign relations committee, called the suggestion "a bad move at a bad time" and one that might bring dissolution of the UN in a critical world period.

Hickenlooper, who heads the senate-house atomic energy committee and is a member of the foreign relations group, said it would mark the UN prematurely with having failed. He added that he wants to give the international organization more time to see if it can reach agreement on world atomic controls.

Senator Hatch (D-NM, also a foreign relations member and a close friend of President Truman, said he will support any move to strengthen the UN.

That is the avowed purpose of resolutions offered in different form by senators and 10 house members of both parties Behind each of these proposals, however, is the obvious belief that if Russia continues to block international agreement on atomic energy and other world problems, the United States must act to align other nations in a new organization.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Fish Bites Woman!

Willie Wells was coming home from Seward's Creek the other evening with a string of trout, when a stern looking lady (visitor at the Boxwood Inn) stops him, and tells him a man his size could be better occupied than catching fish.

Willie tells her off real good-naturedly by saying: "Perhaps you're right, but if these fish had kept their mouths shut, they wouldn't be here." (At that, says Willie, laughing out loud, she looked just as if a fish had bit her!)

Blabbing mouths never cause anything but trouble. Nobody who knew the facts would ever criticize Willie's right to go fishing on his one day off—any more than they'd deny his right to come home to a mellow glass of beer.

From where I sit, the slower we are to criticize—and the quicker we are to recognize another's tastes, the better we'll get along together — whether those tastes apply to beer or fishing.

Taft Speaks On Education

Tells NEA He Favors U. S. Aid if Federal Hands Kept Off.

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, July 10—Senator Robert A. Taft told the National Education association yesterday that "nothing in my opinion could be more dangerous than the direction of education from Washington."

He said in a speech broadcast to the convention from Washington that the bill he has sponsored for federal aid for schools has prevented any direction from the nation's capital.

"Opposition to the bill is largely based on the fear that if federal money is advanced, federal power will grow," Taft said. "I do not think this is necessarily so, but it is a danger we have recognized and tried to protect against in the new bill."

The Ohio senator declared that "financial difficulties of the schools have created a situation in which some federal aid is necessary."

He said he believed a majority of the senate favored federal aid for schools.

Rep. Edward O. McCowan of Wheelersburg, O., who introduced a similar bill in the house, appeared personally before the legislative commission of the NEA. He said his bill carried full safeguards against federal interference with state administration of funds.

McCowan said his bill provided a $40 minimum per pupil per year. Wealthy states, he added, would receive $3 per year per pupil, and that his bill would bring more than $3,000,000 to Ohio annually for teachers' salaries.

Under the Taft bill no state would receive less than $5 per pupil.

Appointment of B. I. Griffith, director of public relations for the Ohio Education association, Columbus, as president of the School Public Relations association, a national organization, was announced today.

Stage Wholesale Arrests on Tip Communists Planning Coup at Athens.

ATHENS, July 10 — The Greek government announced yesterday that more than 2,000 persons were arrested in the Athens area early in the day in raids aimed at stamping out a Communist plot to stage a revolution and spread civil war throughout the entire country.

Minister of Public Order Napoleon Zervas said the zero hour for the Communist stroke was to have been around 1 a. m. Thursday, when attacks were to have been staged simultaneously in all parts of Greece, bringing the present mountain guerilla warfare into urban centers.

Between 3,000 and 4,000 police, gendarmes and soldiers staged the lightning raids before dawn this morning, Zervas said. He added that many important Communists already had fled and either were hiding in Athens or in the mountains.

Imprisoned on Islands

Most of those arrested, he said, will be taken to islands near Athens while the investigation continues.

The transport already has begun. Some ringleaders, Zervas added, will remain in Athens to await hearings. Those not implicated in the plot will be released and others probably will be exiled, officials said.

A leftist leader who escaped arrest in the first raids declared: "They're making a clean sweep."

The arrests were carried out by security police on orders of the council of ministers and followed rumors—current for several days—that the Communists were planning a coup in this area.

All KKE (Communist party) leaders in the Athens-Piraeus sector were reported among those arrested.

The offices of the Communist newspaper Rizospastos were occupied at 4 a. m. and the editor, Andichristo Kavafakis, was arrested.

Among others reported taken into custody were Demitrius Partsilliades, Communist secretary-general of the leftwing EAM (National Liberation Front), and Mrs. Rosa Timvriote, chief of the educational division of the Communist party.

Architect Hired To Plan Galion Schools

Special to The Star

GALION, July 10—An important step in the Galion public school expansion program was taken by the board of education at the regular meeting Tuesday [illegible] Harry J. Brumenschenkel of Mansfield was retained by the board to design new North and South elementary schools and make improvement plans for several other buildings in the city.

Over-crowded conditions in some school districts, as well as the poor physical condition of the buildings have made it necessary for the board to consider a building program. Meanwhile board members are studying the financial picture of the schools to see if additional revenue is needed to finance the building program. It is likely that voters will be asked in November to act upon a levy.

A study of attendance figures for the past year shows an average daily attendance of 1,583 as compared with 1,520 in 1943-44. Average daily membership increased from 1,666 to 1,681 over the 1945-46 school year, it was pointed out. Consideration of an extra room for a kindergarten will have to be given by the board, with 127 pupils now registered for this department.

The budget was approved for 1948. It includes $261,740 in the general fund and $26,495 in the bond and interest fund. This compares with the 1947 figure of $221,580, an increase of $40,160. The Daniels-Kramer bill will bring into the schools $45,000, 75 per cent of which must be used for teachers' salaries.

Miss Lenore Bowdle of Wapakoneta, O., was employed for the vocal and instrumental music position in the Junior High school. The resignation of Miss Barbara Moore, who was hired as English teacher at the last board meeting, was accepted by the board.

Approval of the school calendar was also made, setting the opening of the schools for Sept. 2, and providing for a full two weeks' vacation to include the Monday after Easter as it did this year.

The school year will end May 26. Schools will open at 8:45 a. m. each day.

Crestline Schools Given New Budget

CRESTLINE, July 10 — The budget for the school year 1948 was presented at the meeting of the board of education held Monday night. The general fund calls for $937.90 and the bond $11,687.50.

The resignation of Donald Perry of North Fairfield, who has taken a position at Ohio State university, was accepted.

The date for the opening of the fall term of school was set for Sept. 2. A group of citizens from various churches was present requesting a qualified teacher in public schools for religious education. The board permitted a time during school hours for the instruction, but the teacher is to be paid from a fund made up of co-operating churches requesting the teacher.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN BUNDESEN, M.D.

Migraine

Migraine with its devastating one-sided headaches, is one of the most perplexing of the problems of present-day medicine.

Just why certain apparently well people should be subjected to these periodic attacks of violent headache, nausea and vomiting is not definitely known but there does seem a tendency for this disorder to run in families.

In the majority of cases, migraine develops before the age of 20 and only rarely does it persist beyond 60. This, together with the well-known fact that many women suffer from attacks just before or during the regular periods, has led to the theory that the disorder might be due to some disturbance of the glands of internal secretions, since these internal secretions are known to govern growth, the onset of maturity and old-age.

But while definite proof of this and all other ideas concerning the cause of the disorder are lacking, there is still much that can be done to relieve it.

Drs. Hugo T. Engelhardt, of Houston, Texas, and Vincent J. Derbes, of New Orleans, La., have outlined the procedure which they follow in treating patients with this condition. When the attack occurs, the patient is put to bed in a dark, quiet, well-ventilated room, and an ice pack is put on the painful area. If possible, the patient is given oxygen to breathe. They have found that this relieves 40 per cent of those suffering an attack. They then give a preparation known as ergotamine tartrate either by injection into a vein, under the skin, or by mouth. The dose used is that which is just sufficient to relieve the pain. The doctor will determine just what that is.

If sickness to the stomach and vomiting occur after the injection is given into the vein, a product known as atropine is administered. Sometimes, muscular cramps also develop which are relieved by massage. Ergotamine cannot be used in persons who have disorders affecting the arteries. If the attack continues, it may be necessary to give a mixture of glucose and salt solution by injection into the vein.

As a general rule, the physician does not treat an attack of migraine with a narcotic, such as morphine, but a sedative, or quieting drug, may be used with benefit.

While the basic over-all cause of migraine has yet to be discovered, it is sometimes possible to find factors which contribute to its occurrence in individual cases. For instance, some persons may be oversensitive to some food. If the foods to which they are sensitive can be found and eliminated from the diet, the attacks may cease.

In certain cases, glandular disturbances such as lack of secretion from the thyroid, the ovaries, or the pituitary gland at the base of the brain, may be factors. Treatment with glandular extracts may therefore be found to be useful.

People afflicted with migraine usually have a high intelligence and are very conscientious. Thus their work is usually of the exacting and responsible kind which brings nervous tension to a height. If these people can avoid strain and emotional upsets, their attacks, in many cases, will be less frequent.

4. Gives more suds—
Prove it in your dishpan!
Kind-to-hands suds! Faster suds! Longer-lasting suds than any soap in hardest water! Tide cuts grease like magic . . . washes dishes cleaner than any soap! No scum in the water! No cloudy film on dishes and glasses! That's why they rinse and dry so sparkling clear—even without wiping!

Hungary's Top Coal Mine Run By Russ Who Says He's No Red

By DANIEL DE LUCE
Associated Press Writer

PECS, HUNGARY — The best coal mines in Hungary are run by a Soviet citizen who says he has never belonged to the Communist party.

Seventy per cent of his 5,000 Hungarian workers have become Communists since the war, but thin, dark-eyed Grigori Miskarian, former Red Army major, claims he is not interested in "political abstractions."

Chief director of coal production at Pecs, where daily tonnage is now as high as before the war, Citizen Miskarian is described by Hungarian economists as the ablest manager in the several hundred enterprises under joint Soviet-Hungarian ownership today.

In her exploitation of confiscated German capital in occupied countries, Russia has been accused by numerous foreign critics of embarking on a strange and sinister program of economic imperialism.

Look Like Westerners

Yet the development of these interests in Hungary appears, on close examination, to follow lines familiar to any American or British or French company with subsidiaries abroad.

Some jointly-owned industries are reputed to be in a temporary muddle because of inexperienced Soviet personnel at the top, which has frozen initiative and resorted to a system of super-bureaucracy.

Others, however, with the Pecs coal mines as the No. 1 example, are booming ahead at a pace faster than that of companies which are 100 per cent Hungarian.

Citizen Miskarian, an Armenian from Tiflis and an engineer by profession, invited me to visit the mines after a brief long-distance telephone call from Budapest. In Moscow, an American correspondent is accustomed to wait weeks for similar permission.

Suffered No Damage

The coal mines in thick seams 1,200 feet under the wooded Mecsek hills behind Pecs, which was captured in a surprise encirclement by Russian troops and suffered no battle damage.

Pecs has seen conquerors, during the centuries, come and go. A Turkish minaret, now part of a Christian church, bears witness to the long-perished rule of the Ottoman empire. Napoleon's guardsmen fought here. Until last year, 42,000 Soviet soldiers were in the vicinity. Now all have been withdrawn.

The mines were seized in toto by the Soviet government in 1945 as assets of the Danube Shipping Company, a Bavarian concern. A year ago they were put into Meszhart—a new corporation with 50-50 Soviet and Hungarian ownership—as the Russian contribution. The Hungarians put in a fleet of river boats.

Target Overshot

The 1948 target for the mines was to equal the 1938 level of production. That has already been done. Twenty-three hundred tons of coal come daily from the pits. But Miskarian is seeking to reach the 1943 figure of 2,600 tons daily, when production was all-out for Nazi Germany.

Hungarian miners generally earn in a day what an American miner earns in an hour or so. The average is 20 forints ($1.70).

At Pecs, however, Miskarian has started a system of work-premiums which he asserts has raised the daily average wage to 23 forints ($1.96). But the scale ranges from 8 forints for unskilled hands to 34 forints for the highest technicians. Miskarian is estimated to draw 2,000 forints a month ($170.54).

A metric ton of Pecs coal, according to quality, sells for 99 to 128 forints ($8.44 to $10.91).

Down-Beat Caesar Casts Eye On Pianist—Name of Truman

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN

United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 9—There is an amateur piano player, name of Truman, Harry S., and what's the musicians' union to do about him?

James Caesar Petrillo, the boss music-maker, sighed, but not musically. His troubles stretched from the presidential piano to congress to the silent bands of Chicago high schools. His eyes misted as he described for the house labor committee his love for music, children, and his fellow man. His burgeoning wings were making bulges beneath his linen jacket when he interrupted himself.

"Don't get me wrong," he said. "I am not an angel."

"I have not been inclined in that direction," replied Rep. Graham A. Barden of North Carolina.

"Huh?" asked the non-angelic one.

"I said I did not believe you were an angel," said the congressman.

Look at Problems

And now that we have our characters straight, let us look into the problems presented by the presidential pianist, the musical mayor of Mexico City and the tootless tootlers of Chicago.

Petrillo said by all that's holy (his language was stronger) that the U. S. army band could make no phonograph records unless the symphonic soldiers were members of his American Federation of Musicians. Rep. Richard M. Nixon of California, said yes, but the new labor law made it illegal for a worker to strike against the government.

"If they can't strike, I can't use 'em," the down-beat Caesar said. "And while we're talking about the government, what'll we do about President Truman? He plays the piano."

Rep. Carroll D. Kearns of Pennsylvania, said he supposed that if Mr. Truman wanted to play a tune on the radio, the federal government would have to kick back a fee to Petrillo's union for a standby piano-player.

Not Funny, Petrillo

That was too near the truth to sound funny to Rep. Nixon. Only a few weeks ago, he said, the mayor of Mexico City visited Pittsburgh. His honor made with a boogie-woogie rumba on the radio and the management had to pay Petrillo and Co. for a union pianist to stand by. A fine, international good-will gesture, Rep. Willis said.

"Yes," said Petrillo. "And did they pay our man in Mexican money?"

The lawmakers called at this juncture a relucant witness, one George Jennings, director of radio for the Chicago public school system. He said he'd prefer to say nothing, because he was sure he could work out something with Petrillo. The congresmen insisted. So:

Jennings said the school board had built its own frequency modulation broadcasting system to carry educational programs into its own school rooms, but that he dared not allow the students to broadcast their own music on their own radio station.

Petrillo Says "Nix"

"You mean Petrillo doesn't allow it?" demanded Rep. Barden.

"Not unless we pay standby fees to union musicians," Jennings replied. He said, in fact, that no Chicago high school band is allowed to march in any parade or appear at any public function because of the union. Rep. Barden rubbed his white-thatched head in amazement.

"Chicago still is part of the United States?" he asked.

Jennings said he was certain it was.

"And it doesn't take a passport to get in there? " insisted the gentleman from North Carolina. Jennings said he did not believe so. The committee recalled Petrillo. Did he know anything about the silenced bands bands of Chicago?

Well sir, said Petrillo, he lived in Chicago, all right. He was a park commissioner. But he was president of the national union and the high school bands were a local problem. The matter never had been brought to his attention.

"What?" cried Rep. Barden.

"I give you my word," Caesar said, placing together the tips of his fingers, as in prayer.

Blackwell's Knockers in Junior League Smell of Sour Grapes

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, July 10—Some American leaguers were cheapening their All-Star game triumph today by deprecating the pitching efforts of Ewell Blackwell, the thin man of the Cincinnati Reds who is rated by fellow National leaguers as the best in the business.

Several of the winners asserted that they didn't think too highly of the Crosley field Flamingo, one claiming that while he had a good fast ball his breaking stuff was unimpressive.

That provides a salivary reaction akin to eating sour grapes when you consider that only Joe DiMaggio was able to boast of a base hit off Blackwell in the three innings Ewell held down the center plot of real estate for the senior circuit—and the Bronx Bomber wasn't one of the snide sneerers.

Hall of Fame Material

Off the All-Star record, there isn't any reason to think that Blackwell won't be in line some day for the Hall of Fame. He faced only 10 men in three innings, fanned four—such feared batters as Ted Williams. Lou Boudreau. Joe Gordon and George Kell—and held the Americans scoreless.

If that is "unimpressive," then baseball could do with a few more such failures.

Happily, there was a decided difference of opinion among the American league players as to Blackwell's pitching ability. Boudreau, a keen baseball observer as well as manager of the Cleveland Indians, said:

"Right now Blackwell is as good a pitcher as Bobby Feller. His speed is terrific, he has a deadly curve and a spectacular side arm sinker."

Only Feller's Boss

Boudreau, you must remember, simply happens to be Feller's boss.

Move over into the National league where the hitters look at Blackwell all season, and the praise reaches a unanimous crescendo.

Country Slaughter, the boy who beat the American league in last year's World Series, calls Blackwell the toughest pitcher in baseball and teammate Marty Marion of the Cards, a timely clutch man, labels Blackie "very tough."

Schoolboy Rowe of the Phillies, a top-flight pitcher himself as well as a long ball hitter of note, comes up with the highest accolade for the Cincinnati tosser.

"I'd rather not pitch against him," Schoolie said. "You can pitch a shutout and still not be certain of winning."

The records will back him up. Blackwell currently is the leading winner in the majors with 14 wins against only two defeats—12 of those victories in a row.

He led the majors last year with six shutouts and seems destined to top that performance this season as he already has five, one of them a not-hit, no-run effort. Leading the league in strikeouts, he also has pitched a two-hitter, a three-hitter and a pair of four-hitters.

Unimpressive?

Snatches of Sports

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK, July 10 — The sport of baseball lost one of its greatest friends when Judge W. G. Bramham died Tuesday, and so did a lot of people who write about the game.... It wasn't easy to get close to the stern jurist who ruled the minor leagues for many years, but once he granted you his confidence, he gave it in full . . . The judge could and would tell you the "inside" of many of baseball's odder doings, point out where criticism or praise were called for and forecast happenings that sometimes were years away . . . He did it, not as a favor, but because he believed it helped the game to help a writer to a clear understanding of the inner workings of the baseball business . . . Still buried in our files, for instance, are some of the Judge's letters of 1944 forecasting such things as last year's player's guild fiasco and the development of player representation in baseball councils.

Speech, Speech

Bramham probably will be remembered the longest for the famous "battle of proxies" in 1943, when baseball's chain operators tried to unseat him . . . No one who was there ever will forget the closing speech.. . . The judge, an old, tired man who had led an uncompromising struggle for what he thought was right, stood up before his opponents, his eyes flashing and his words crackling like whiplashes as he told them: "Instead of going around and trying to create discord, instead of trying to undermine men who are trying to deal with those things that are essential to the protection of this game and to maintain the respect and confidence of the American people, you better get out of your huddles in blind alleys and dark rooms and stop trying to do those things that are a reflection upon you personally and upon the game." . . . Those words should be posted in every baseball office as a reminder.

Tribe Dickering for 2nd Negro Baseball Player

By The United Press

CLEVELAND, July 10 — The Cleveland Indians are scouting Sammy Jethroe, a fleet .300 plus hitter of the Cleveland Buckeyes of the Negro American league, who may become the second Negro to join the major leagues in a week.

Two Tribe scouts, Bill Bradley and "Gyp" Lewis, watched Jethroe last night as he knocked out three hits to help his team beat the Chicago Giants in a doubleheader. Jethroe also stole two bases.

Officials of both the Indians and the Buckeyes refused to comment on a possible sale of the Negro star, but the Indians indicated last week after signing Larry Doby that they would hire another Negro player to "keep him company."

"AFTER REVENGE"

Rufus Jones, the head-butting colored boy from New York is after revenge tonight at the Marion Armory when he tries to settle the score between himself and Dutch Schultz. They met several weeks ago and the tall Texan won a close decision. It was a whale of a match and tonight's should be better for Rufus says he is out to win. It will be a double main event card with both matches going over the ninety-minute route with the best two out of three falls. The other top attraction should be just about the fastest, cleanest match seen here in a long time for it pits Billy Fox and Gordon Hessell together. They were the winners of last week's matches.

A tag team match will open the show at 8:30 between the team of Bill Glenn and Tom Zwolla against the team of Homer Carr and Howard Glenn. It's a program to suit all the fans. Call 2745 after six for ringside seats. Adv.

119 BOYS SIGN FOR BERTHS IN JUNIOR BASEBALL LEAGUES

Two Loops with 10 Small-Fry Teams Established at Meeting.

One hundred and nineteen boys crowded into the American Legion Dugout yesterday afternoon and signed up to play baseball in the city junior baseball league.

H. George Roest, chairman, told the boys that play may get under way next week.

Each team will have a roster of no more than 12 players and every boy showing up for a game must be allowed to play at least three innings.

Games will be played in the afternoons starting promptly at 1 p. m.

Ten teams are being formed in two age groups. One group will be for boys 14, 15, and 16 and the other for boys 11, 12, 13. Seven of the older squads will be formed and four younger teams. Boys too young to make the junior loop will have one day at the parks for some form of instruction and play.

Following Mr. Roest's explanation of the league setup, several other persons who will be helping out with the program were introduced.

Don Blinn has been named as an assistant director.

Others on the program were William Orcutt, a member of the American Legion junior baseball committee, Nelson Irvin, coach of the junior squad, Joseph Petrich, director of the city park recreation program, W. N. Wiley, McKinley park recreation director and James Bloomfield, who will assist with the program.

Several other interested adults were present.

Ralph Shick, Marion Lincoln-Mercury dealer, showed the film "Play Ball Son" in which Joe Cronin, manager of the American League champion Red Sox narrates, and 14-year-old players demonstrate the finer points of the game.

Knights Dream Winner In Grand Circuit Race

By The Associated Press

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., July 10—Knights Dream, top two-year-old pacer, equalled his own season record in winning the $9,000 trotting club stake last night in Grand Circuit meeting at the Saratoga raceway.

With Frank Safford handling the reins, the Providence, R. I., pacer was clocked in 2:06 4/5 in the second heat, beating Shamrock Vic by two lengths. Zam Zam, from Margaretville, N. Y., won his fifth straight victory of the meet by taking the first section of the $3,000 Poughkeepsie pace.

Local Sports Rained Out

Baseball, Racing, Softball Programs All Fall Victims of Weather.

All was quiet on the sport front last night as rain washed out scheduled activity.

Because of the wet weather, the Little Grand Circuit racing program planned last night at the fairgrounds has been changed to tonight. Tonight's has been reset to tomorrow night, and Friday night's will come off Saturday. Saturday's is moved up to Monday, with the exception of the $3,000 14 class pacing derby. This puts two stake races on the Saturday program. The other is the 2:17 trot stake with a $1,000 purse.

At Zanesville the weather was the same as in Marion. The second game of the three-game Cub-Dodger series had been scheduled. All other Ohio State league activity also bowed to the weather.

On the softball slate, Smitty's All-Stars were scheduled in a twin bill at their Crystal Lake park against Safety Cabs of Mansfield and Baldridge Tire of Upper Sandusky.

The Blue Bird - Independent baseball game scheduled at Harding field was another casualty.

The junior Legion baseball club was scheduled at Mansfield, but the weather maker put the Indian sign on this event too.

INDEPENDENTS TO PRACTICE

Members of the Independents baseball team are asked to be on hand for practice tomorrow at Harding Field at 5:30 p. m.

Tilden Complains Jail Term Injuring Health

LOS ANGELES, July 10—Former tennis star William T. Tilden complained today that his health was being undermined by hard labor at a county road camp, where he has served six months of a nine month sentence on a morals charge.

Superior Judge A. A. Scott took Tilden's plea for freedom under submission until July 15.

Tilden was sentenced in January when he pleaded guilty to contributing to the delinquency of a 14-year-old boy, a tennis pupil.

LEGION BALL TEAM TO LOCK HORNS WITH DELAWARE SATURDAY

Juniors Lose Chance for Real Test as Mansfield Tilt Rained Out.

Rain kept the Marion junior Legion team from getting its first real test of the season at Mansfield yesterday. An attempt is being made to re-schedule the contest.

The next game which the Legion has scheduled, is at Lincoln Park Saturday afternoon with Delaware at 2:30 p. m. No admission will be charged. Marion has once defeated the Delaware club.

Drawings for the district tournament at Ohio State university will be held at Columbus this week. W. E. Orcutt will represent Marion at the drawings.

Sunday, the Legion team had been scheduled to play at Galion, but because Galion has a district game with Mansfield scheduled then, the game has been postponed to July 20.

A tentative game is on the books July 17 at Lima. It will probably be played prior to a Cub-Terrier Ohio State loop game.

Anguished Cry "Stop Yankees" Rings Through American Again

By The Associated Press

The old, familiar cry of "Stop the Yankees" rang through the American league again today.

It's been four years since the alarm signals have been sounded in the junior circuit over an onsurging Yankee menace although it's a different sort of a crew that Bucky Harris brought into St. Louis for the opening of the New Yorkers' third invasion on the west this year.

While the Yanks will take on the Brown in an arclighter tonight, the Red Sox and Tigers will fight it out in a twilight title at Detroit. Connie Mack's A's face the Indians at Cleveland in a twi-light doubleheader in which Bobby Feller will test out his ailing knee and back. The American league program is rounded out by a Washington at Chicago twin bill.

The sizzling National league race picks up in the east with the aroused St. Louis Cardinals, now in fourth place, challenging the third place New York Giants in a night affair which opens a five-games in three days series; the fifth place Cubs tackle the pace-setting Dodgers in a doubleheader at Brooklyn and the sixth place Reds, only six games off the pace, tangle with the runner-up Braves in double-pay, day and night contests at Boston. Pittsburgh's hapless Pirates and the fading Philadelphia Phils continue the battle of the cellar in a bargain bill at Quakertown.

Vacation Time For Some But Bohyer's Busy Hunting Coach

It is vacation time for some folks but not D. N. Bohyer, director of athletics in the Marion public schools who is busy these days interviewing candidates for coaching positions at Harding High and junior high schools in preparation for the 1947-48 athletic activities

In addition to the interviews schools and colleges are being contacted by Mr Bohyer in an effort to fill the positions as early as possible and with the best obtainable coaches, he said today. Several vacancies exist in the department and aside from two head football and head basketball coaches, no new coaches have been employed. Announcement was made recently of the appointment of W. A. Howison as head football coach and Kenneth Somerlot as head basketball coach

PLAYS THAT COUNT

By FRANK ECK

Associated Press Sport Writer

"The most important play I ever saw occurred in the 1929 World Series with the Athletics," says Manager Charley Grimm of the Chicago Cubs. Grimm played first base for the Cubs in those days.

"We were in Shibe Park, Philadelphia playing the fourth game. The Cubs enjoyed an 8-0 lead when it seemed like the roof fell in on us. When the inning was over the A's had scored 10 runs."

GRIMM

Cubs

Charley Root was pitching for the Cubs that Columbus Day and had a three-hit shutout going into the last of the seventh inning.

"The play that caused all the trouble," says Grimm "was a ball that took a bad hop over Norman McMillan's shoulder at third base. I believe Max Bishop hit the ball. There were men on first and second, one out at the time and three runs in.

"If McMillan could only have knocked the ball down he surely would have got the man. The bad hop cost us the game and the Series. Two days later the A's won the fifth and final game.

Grimm recalls another important incident but this one helped the Cubs win their pennant in 1935.

"We were on our great winning streak of 21 straight," says Jolly Cholly "Hal Schumacher of the Giants had us beat, 3-1, the day we went after our 17th in a row. First thing we knew he complained of a sore arm and he left the game.

"The Cardinals were winning, too. It was a close pennant race. Well, the Giants replaced Schumacher with a relief pitcher and we made four runs off the fellow for a 5-3 victory. It was a tough break for the Giants for we had made only two or three hits off Schumacher. But it was a good break for us."

Californian Believes He Found Grounded "Disk"

By The Associated Press

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif. July 10—A saucer-shaped mechanical contraption, resembling a chicken brooder top with a few gadgets added, was found in a geranium bed at the home of construction engineer Russell Long last night and the first official reaction was from fire Battalion Chief Wallace E. Newcombe who looked at it skeptically and said:

"It doesn't look to me like it could fly."

Long called the Van Nuys fire department and excitedly pointed to the metal saucer, 30 inches in diameter, which he said had been belching smoke from two exhaust pipes and emitting a blue-white glare. The office of Richard B. Hood, federal investigation chief here, said an FBI man had taken a look at the device and that it would be turned over to military authorities. The FBI office said Hood had no other comment.

SAYS COURTS MUST DECIDE SCHOOL ISSUE

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, July 10 — Dr. Alonzo F. Myers of New York, told the National Education association today that it was up to the supreme court to settle the question of whether public funds could be used for operation and maintenance of Catholic schools.

Dr. Myers is chairman of the commission for the defense of democracy through education of the NEA and made the statement in answer to a proposal by Archbishop John T. McNicholas here that the convention "take a conciliatory approach to the highly controversial question concerning use of public funds to aid non-public school children."

Archbishop McNicholas made his proposal last Saturday.

The matter, Dr. Myers said, "cannot be settled by conciliation regardless of the good will and the desire to avoid further developments of religious tension that I feel sure exists on both sides."

The Catholic school in the North College Hill community of Cincinnati was included in the public school system there last year but no provision was made for it during the next school year.

It was at North College Hill that students of the high schools struck when a majority of the board of education refused to renew the contract of Superintendent William A. Cook. When the board resigned Probate Court Judge Chase M. Davies took charge and renamed Cook.

Dr. Myers in his report to the NEA General assembly said "neither the NEA nor any other group could set aside the laws and constitutions of the states or of the nation. Either it is in accordance with those laws and constitutions to use public funds for sectarian religious teaching and operations of parochial schools, or it is not."

The commission headed by Dr. Myers recommended that the North College Hill school system be removed from the NEA "blacklist."

It was put on the list during the student strike and the controversy among the members of the board of education.

LIGHTER LIGHT COSTS

By International News Service

WILMINGTON, Del. — Electric lamps are putting in a longer work week claimed Samuel G. Hibben. He is the director of applied lighting at Westinghouse, and blames the above conditions on windowless factories and towering office buildings. He said, "around-the-clock lighting is now routine in many industries." Lighting would be better if it didn't cost so much, Hibben claimed, and Westinghouse is cutting cost by increasing efficiency of lightsources and reflectors. And, he added, "for every such improvement there should be a corresponding increased usage of light."

ARMS TRAINING IN HIGH SCHOOL ASKED

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 10—Compulsory military training in high schools was urged at a house armed services committee hearing today by the Rev. Dan A. Laning, Catholic priest of Mission, Tex.

A buck private in World War I and a chaplain in the last war, Father Laning was one of two witnesses who supported the principle of universal military training advocated by a special presidential commission.

The other was Blake R. Van Leer, president of Georgia Tech university, Atlanta.

Opposing the proposal as the committee continued hearings that may run into next year were Kermit Eby, director of education and research for the CIO, and Rabbi Ahron Opher of New York, representing the Synagogue Council of America.

"Put military training in all our high schools, colleges and universities," Father Laning urged the committee. "Why begin at the age of 18? x x x By commencing military training in the high school, the nation would be getting the benefit of from four to eight years of continuous training as compared to six months or a year" as advocated by the President's commission.

Rabbi Ohpher called for a strengthening of the United Nations as the most effective way to maintain peace. Universal military training, he said, runs "counter to the intent and purposes," of the UN and should be resorted to only when there is an "imminent threat" to national security.

Van Leer told the committee universal military training "will unquestionably improve the education and training of our people," and is necessary now.

Eby claimed the President's commission was "biased from the very beginning" and said its report was "virtually a call to arms" and "an acceptance of war as inevitable."

Kenton Air Show Set In Dedication Ceremony

KENTON, July 10—An air show will be one of the features of the dedication of the Hardin county airport, it was announced Monday evening by G. W. West, manager of the airport west of the city owned by Bob Stewart and E. M. Baker.

Mr. West, who has been here as manager of the airport since June 27, spoke to members of the Kenton Rotary club at the club's regular meeting on Monday evening.

He said he could not give a definite date for the dedication of the port, but said it will be as soon as the field has been given an official C-A rating, probably next month. This government approval will be given, West said, as soon as the three runways are ready for inspection.

Elizabeth in Choice of Husband Is Envy of Bobbysoxer, Duchess

By ED CREAGH
(Associated Press Writer)

[illegible], July 10 — Princess [illegible] se for her husband a [illegible] thousands of [illegible] subjects would marry [illegible] the chance.

[illegible] Mountbatten is a [illegible] and bobby-soxer's [illegible].

And not only wistful poor girls [illegible] Britain's most glit- [illegible] debutantes have cast come- [illegible] at the handsome ex- [illegible].

He is tall, fair-haired, blue- [illegible] has the profile of a [illegible] Greek statue. Slightly re- [illegible] as befits a public school [illegible] he smiles easily and says [illegible] things to women. In naval uniform, he looks like something out of a tailor's ad.

At 26, Mountbatten has the broad shoulders that helped him become an oustanding soccer player at school. He dances perfectly and often. He drives a car as fast as the law allows.

Top Social Position

Soical position? Philip is a great-great-grandson of Queen Victoria who was Princess Elizabeth's great-great-grandmother. Until he became a British subject and renounced his title last March, Philip was a prince of Greece and Denmark, sixth in line for the Greek throne.

One thing he may lack as the perfect husband—money. He has little of his own, but his uncle, Viscount Mountbatten, has wads of the stuff, and Elizabeth's income will be for all practical purposes unlimited when she becomes queen.

Born in Corfu, June 10, 1921, Philip has as complicated an ancestry as any European royal personage. His father, Prince Andrew of Greece, was a young son of Prince William of Denmark, who accepted the Greek throne as George I in 1863.

Philip's mother, Princess Alice, was the eldest daughter of Prince Louis of Battenberg, a German who acquired British citizenship in 1868 and was First Sea Lord at the outbreak of World War I. He changed his name to the less German Mountbatten in 1917.

No Greek Blood

Thus young Philip, taken into exile at Paris with his family at the age of one, has no Greek blood in his veins. He speaks almost no Greek, and his English has the "upper class" accent of the public school—or what Americans call a private school.

Since he was eight, Philip has been brought up in England and Scotland by Viscount Mountbatten, for many years the playboy "Lord Louis" who became one of World War II's top admirals and, later viceroy of Indian.

Princess Elizabeth and her sister Margaret were among Philip's childhood playmates at the fabulously luxurious Mountbatten home in London's Park lane.

After schooling at Chem in England and Gordonstown in Scotland, Philip entered Dartmouth naval college in 1939. He made the first football eleven and won the King's dirk as the outstanding cadet of his year.

At Sicily Landing

During the war he served as a midshipman on various cruisers and battleships. He was second in command on the destroyer Wallace during the Sicily landings and was mentioned in dispatches as searchlight officer of the battleship Valiant in the battle of Matapan.

Rumors linking him with Elizabeth first trickled out of royalist circles in Athens. They were at first ignored, then denied. But Philip was frequently a house guest of the British royal family, and a widely published photograph of him dancing with the princess kept romance rumors alive.

Throughout the recurrent hullabaio—some leftist elements opposed the match because of Philip's link with the Greek royal house—Philip displayed a talent for keeping out of the limelight that should stand him in good stead as the husband of a reigning queen.

A prince consort, by well-established constitutonal tradition, should be seen but not heard—in anything affecting the government of the British empire. Queen Victoria's husband, Albert broke the rule and got into trouble. Philip is unlikely to repeat the mistake

Uncle Taught Prince

He is, however, no stranger to statecraft. "Uncle Dickie," as he calls Lord Mountbatten, taught him much. He also has read widely in politics and naval affairs and at one time was a frequent visitor at sessions of both houses of parliament.

Lecturing on current affairs to enlisted men of the Royal Navy was his chief assignment after World War II. For all the men's traditional suspicion of "toff," officers, they listened to him intently and like him. Also, they said, he wasn't afraid to get his hands dirty.

One story about Phillip's "common touch" is told by a newspaperman who attended a society wedding. Looking around for someone to carry a message, he beskoned to a blond youngster who cheerfully ran his errand, the reporter didn't know until later that his messenger was Prince Philip of Greece and Denmark.

STEELS ENJOY SOME MARKET BUOYANCY

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, July 10—Steels and special stocks, including textiles, displayed recovery tendencies in today's market while many leaders were unable to override light selling.

Some customers continued to trim accounts on the idea that the eight weeks' advance called for more of a technical correction. Inflation psychology, stemming from the recent coal wage hike, inspired a certain amount of bidding. An offset here, however, was the thought that mounting prices may accentuate consumer resistance to the point where many corporations will suffer. Hopes for tax relief were chilled a bit by word that a White House veto would be forthcoming.

Highs for 1947 were recorded by Acme Steel, A. O. Smith and St. Regis Paper, the last-named buoyed by talk of resumed dividends. Better performers were Wyandotte Worsted, American Woolen, Lowenstein, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, U. S. Rubber, Boeing, Western Union "A," Electric Power and Light, American Smelting, Santa Fe, and Northern Pacific.

Occasional stumblers were Chesapeake and Ohio, N. Y. Central, Standard Oil (NJ), Lone Star Cement, Sears Roebuck, International Harvester, Consolidated Edison, American Can, Dow Chemical, Allied Chemical, Du Pont and Union Carbide.

LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

"DON'T get your teeth into your lines so far you can't disengage them," I told Mary, purposely laughing at her, for I wanted to keep as light a touch as possible during these tense hours of waiting for Harriet Braithwaite's telegram.

"I don't care if you have to call a dentist," she retorted. "Me, I'm going to be a regular greasy grind, as they used to say in college. I'm going places today, or know the reason why."

The answering laugh which accompanied her boast was so pitiful a travesty of mirth that I winced. But I permitted no hint of my compassion and anxiety for her to appear in either my face or my voice.

"Well, here's the first lap," I said, proffering the manuscript of my first act to her.

But to my bewilderment, she did not take it instead, drew back slightly.

"Auntie Madge?" she said, with the words a question.

"Yes, darling," I encouraged her.

"Would you mind reading the first act through aloud? Then I can get the feel of it before I begin to study."

I have seen too many students in action not to realize at once the reason for her request. She was shying from a difficult lesson as if it were a hurdle to which she was being spurred. And yet the only urge to study had come from her own spirit!

Too Tense

Katharine's closely watchful eyes, signaling me to obey the request at once, gave me the key. Mary was too tense over the waiting for her Aunt Harriet's answer to be able to settle down even to the study of her lines which she had been demanding ever since she reached us.

She was like a spring too tightly wound, I thought, as I settled myself in a chair opposite her, opened the manuscript and smiled at her. She might snap at any second.

"You are flattering me," I told her, saying the first thing which came into my head and wishing fervently, not for the first time, that it was feasible to keep her under drugs from the present minute until Harriet Braithwaite's telegram should arrive.

"You know I'm not," she retorted. "I always love to hear you read my lines. You render them so marvelously that I get every nuance I want out of them."

Katharine moved toward the door, and I blessed her for her tact. She knew it would be much easier for me if Mary were my sole auditor.

"You won't be needing me," she said, "so, with your indulgence, I'm going into the sitting room and curl down on that delectable couch for forty—or maybe eighty—winks. If you need me, just let out a yell, and I'll come a-running."

She closed the door on her last word, and Mary sent an affectionate smile after her.

"Darling Aunt Katharine!" she said. "She always does the right thing at just the right time."

Then her smile faded, and she looked appealing at me.

"Do you mind hurrying that reading?" she said. "I feel as if I couldn't wait to hear it."

Carefully I kept my eyes from her hands with the fingers cruelly twisting each other. I knew that she was putting the greatest coercion upon herself in the effort not to betray her poignant mental suffering. My heart ached for our darling, yet I knew that a word or a gesture of sympathy would be the worst thing I could give her. I must enter into her pretense, and take her into my arms for sanctuary only when she should ask for that refuge.

So, "Then bend your ears," I told her, laughing, "for I'm going to give you what your uncle calls 'the words.'"

Began to Read

I picked up the manuscript and began to read all the roles of the play, giving to the utterance of each word from the differing roles all the dramatic power I could muster.

When, after a few minutes, I looked at Mary from beneath my eyelashes, I blessed the old actress, a friend of my mother's, who had taught me to read dramatic roles. For her fingers were no longer twisting each other but lying quietly in her lap, and her whole attitude as more relaxed.

The rest of my reading was, I am afraid, what Dicky would call "distinctly ham." I accented the highlights, but was rewarded, when I had finished, by one of Mary's "top-drawer" smiles.

"That was marvelous, Auntie Madge!" she said. "Just toss me the manuscript. I'm ready to study now."

I gave it to her, turned my chair around and took up a magazine, pretending to be absorbed in it. But I was keenly aware of Mary's quickened breathing, and of her rapid mumbling of lines, interrupted with silences. Then she spoke abrutly.

"I'd like to try these next three lines for you," she said.
